UNITED STATES WILL NOT ACCEDE TO THE ALLIES' SUGGESTION

Submarines of the Belligerents
Will Not be Denied Access to American Waters.

REPLY MADE LAST AUGUST

Government's Policy on Sunday's Raid May be Based on Safety Given Survivors.

FINAL DECISION NOT MADE

Will Probably be Made When Naval Officers Make Reports.

Washington, October 10. — Final decision on the policy of the United States toward the U-boat raid off the New England coast has narrowed down, in the view of officials here, to a consideration of whether proper provision was made for the safety of the persons taken from the attacked vessels and left at sea in small boats. A statement of the facts has been requested from the American naval officers at Newport.

While the President and Secretary Lansing were in conference at Long Branch tonight on the new aspects of the submarine warfare, the State Department disclosed that the United States would not accede to a contention of the Entente Allies that all belligerent submarines, whether war craft like the U-53 or merchantmen like the Deutschland, should be denied access to neutral waters and neutral ports.

Reply Already Sent. Acting Secretary Polk announced that a reply to the Allies' memorandum on the subject, declining to be bound by the suggested restrictions laid down by the Allied governments, already had been dispatched.

On the report of the naval officers and masters of ships sunk, many officials believe depends the policy of the government. If they convince the President that Germany's pledges have not been complied with, the whole submarine controversy, officials expect, will be thrown open again.

The Allied embassies today continued their policy of absolute silence. No comment was made on the State Department's announcement that this government had refused to accede to the Allied contention regarding submarines in neutral waters. Every indication was that orders of secrecy have been issued from the Entente capitals.

The American memorandum on use of neutral waters by belligerent submarines, the text of which was made public by the State Department tonight, declares the Allies have failed to show what such vessels should be denied entrance to neutral ports and that no circumstances have been set forth regarding the usual provisions of international law inapplicable to underwater craft. The United States reserves complete liberty of action in dealing with belligerent submarines.

The memorandum, originally sent to France, Great Britain, Russia and Japan in August, in reply to the identical memorandum of August 23, last, was also sent to Italy and Portugal. While the Allied communication was published some time ago the American reply was not given out today, when the recent U-boat activities seemed to make a public statement of the government's position imperative.

FULL TEXT OF AMERICAN MEMORANDUM TO ALLIES. Washington, October 10. — The text of the American memorandum replying to that of the Allied governments regarding treatment of belligerent submarines in neutral ports, is as follows:

"The government of the United States has received the identical memoranda from the governments of France, Great Britain, Russia and Japan, in which neutral governments are exhorted to take efficacious measures tending to prevent belligerent submarines, regardless of their use, to avail themselves of neutral waters, roadsteads and harbors.

FRESH CRAFT MADE BY ENGLISH TROOPS

German Lines South of Somme is Bent Back Considerably and Bovent Village Taken.

RUMANIANS HARD PRESSED

Forces Retreating in Transylvania Closely Pressed by the Germans. Greek Towns Evacuated by Turks.

The French troops fighting south of the Somme region in France have bent back the German lines considerably over a front of about two and a half miles from the village of Bovent to the Chaulnes wood, capturing in the operation the village of Bovent, the north and west outskirts of Ablaincourt and most of the Chaulnes wood. Little activity was shown on the British front north of the Somme.

Rumanians Closely Pressed. In Transylvania the Germans are closely pressing the retreating Rumanians, who continue to fall back all along the line. In the fighting around Kronstadt, 1,175 Rumanians were made prisoners and 25 cannon, including 12 heavy pieces, and large quantities of ammunition and stores, were captured. The Galician village of Herbulow, on the Karayuka river, has been stormed by the Germans, and to the north, in Volhynia, the Russians have been driven out of advanced positions northwest of Lutsk.

Evacuate Macedonian Towns. Along the Struma river, southwest of Demir-Hissar, in Greek Macedonia, the forces of the Teutonic powers have evacuated the towns of Kalandra, Hah, Ormanli and Hahzeta. Northwest of Seres the British have taken from the Bulgarians the towns of Kalandra and Homondra. Berlin says that along the Carian river, where the Entente Allies have been making progress, all attacks have been repulsed.

The usual artillery bombardments are in progress in the Austro-Italian theatre.

Two German U-Boats Sunk. Christiania advises say that two German submarines operating in the Arctic ocean have been sunk by a Russian torpedo boat while they were attacking a wireless station on the Murman coast.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Navy Department officials said tonight that there was no American submarine in the vicinity of Tybee bar.

NUMEROUS STEAMSHIPS TIED UP AT NORFOLK

Many Allied Vessels Held Up Because of Submarine Scare.

Several Which Had Already Cleared Seek Anchorage in Hampton Roads to Await Further Orders—Only One Sails.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 10.—The submarine scare, precipitated by the German U-boat raid off the New England coast Sunday, became acute today. Shipping circles here estimate that no less than a score of allied ships are being held up, by orders from agents and owners.

A number have already loaded cargoes and secured clearance papers, but are seeking anchorage in Hampton Roads, pending a clearing up of the situation.

Only one allied ship cleared, the Italian steamer Selma, light, and bound for Gibraltar for orders. The British steamer Elswick, from New Orleans for Liverpool with a cargo of foodstuffs, which put into port yesterday for bunker coal, was ordered to anchor and await instructions after having called a pilot to sail.

The fear is general here that the present silence regarding the whereabouts of the raiding submarine means that she is changing the scene of operations and that she will begin to operate off the Virginia coast.

UNORGANIZED EMPLOYEES OF RAILWAYS WANT 8-HOUR DAY

Chairman of the "80 Per Cent Movement" Begins Mailing Report. Chicago, Oct. 10.—Robert T. Frazier Jr., of Nashville, Tenn., chairman of the employees' "80 per cent movement," began mailing his report today to the 80 per cent of railroad employees not included in the provisions of the Adamson 8-hour law.

The 80 per cent movement, Mr. Frazier explained, is designed to attain justice for men outside of the Brotherhoods.

EPISCOPALIANS IN TRIENNIAL SESSION

They Gather at St. Louis From All Parts of United States and From Mission Fields.

MANY IMPORTANT MATTERS

Amendment For Creation of Negro Dioceses to Be Considered—Divorce Question Also to Come Before Convention.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 10.—Protestant Episcopal churchmen, both lay and clerical, from all parts of the United States, and from mission fields, together with a few from England and Canada, gathered in St. Louis tonight for the opening of the triennial convention of the church, the supreme legislative body of the Anglican church in the United States.

The sessions of both houses, the bishops and the deputies will be held in Moolish Temple, a building recently erected here by the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. The session of the bishops comprising all of the diocesan and missionary bishops of the church, will be held behind closed doors, but the meetings of the deputies, comprising lay and clerical delegates, will be open.

Every proposition affecting the constitution, law, and ritual of the church must be approved by both houses to become operative. Prayer book and constitutional changes must be approved by both houses of two successive triennial conventions to become effective.

One important constitutional change will come before the general convention, but if approved it cannot become effective unless it also is ratified by the general convention of 1919. The proposed amendment authorizing the creation of dioceses of negro churches and removes the negro parishes from the supervision of the present diocesan bishops. This proposal first was suggested by the Southwestern Province, comprising the dioceses in Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico. If the amendment is adopted, negro bishops will be chosen to preside over negro dioceses. The constitution at present permits the election of negro suffragan bishops in the various dioceses, but none such has been chosen in America.

One paramount question in church law will come before the general convention—that of divorce. The canon at present permits a clergyman of the Episcopal church to perform the marriage ceremony for any divorced person, regardless of the ground on which the divorce was obtained.

The proposed canon, which will become effective if it is approved by the general convention this year, prohibits a clergyman from performing the marriage ceremony for any divorced person, regardless of the ground on which the divorce was obtained.

Secretary Lansing came to Long Branch at 11 o'clock this afternoon.

No Announcement Last Night. The question of the submarine raid was not discussed until 8 o'clock tonight, when dinner was finished. Then the President and Secretary Lansing went into the entire question in detail.

It was not until 11 o'clock that a conference until so late there was no possibility of an announcement tonight. Secretary Lansing expects to return to Washington tomorrow morning.

Internal politics in Germany in connection with submarine warfare, on which Ambassador Gerard is reported to have brought information from Berlin, caused much discussion among officials here today. It was stated on the highest authority here a few days ago, however, that the American government has been hearing reports for months that Germany was preparing to violate its promises, but that it would take no official notice of such reports unless they were borne out by actions.

French Envoy Visits President. Shortly before Secretary Lansing arrived here, Jules Jusserand, the French ambassador, conferred with President Wilson, chiefly on Mexican affairs. He said he came to enlist the support of the President in obtaining the rescinding of a decree issued by the Carranza government which has had the effect of "sequestering" about $20,000,000 of French money invested in two banks in Mexico City.

Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, took lunch with the President today, but declared afterward that the submarine question had not been discussed.

"That is a governmental, not a political, question, and, therefore, it was not taken up," Mr. McCormick said.

Arrangements were made at the conference for a political rally to be held at Shadow Lawn, October 23, which has been designated as "Woodrow Wilson Day" by the Democratic campaign managers.

The President plans to leave here at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for Indianapolis, where he will speak twice Thursday afternoon. He will return here Friday and deliver a speech at Shadow Lawn Saturday, at a celebration of "Pennsylvania Day."

APPARENTLY TURNS NORTH.

No Reports Received of Developments of Storm in the Atlantic.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The tropical disturbance reported yesterday in the Caribbean and Lesser Antilles appeared to have turned to the northward a short distance east of Porto Rico, reports tonight to the weather bureau showed. No reports of any developments to the northward have been received.

LANSING CONFERS WITH WILSON ON U-BOAT QUESTION

Conference Lasted Until Late Last Night, and Will be Continued This Morning.

MAY PROTEST TO GERMANY

Officials Discuss Dangers of Submarine Operations So Near the American Coast.

Long Branch N. J., October 10. — President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing discussed in detail at Shadow Lawn tonight German submarine attacks on merchantmen Sunday off the New England coast. The conference lasted until late tonight and will be continued tomorrow morning.

It was indicated by officials today that facts so far collected through governmental agencies have disclosed no grounds for drastic action by the United States government, because of the attacks themselves. No evidence has been found that international law was violated by the German submarines or submarines. It is understood, however, that the President and Secretary Lansing discussed the wisdom of pointing out to Germany the inadvisability of operating her submarines in close proximity to the territorial waters of the United States.

Friction With Grave Danger. Administration officials took the position that the transferring of submarine warfare so close to America's shores was a broader danger because of the possibility of mistakes being made by submarine commanders. Reports that strong sentiment exists in Germany for the resumption of submarine warfare on a broader scale caused some alarm among officials.

The announcement of Secretary Polk, of the State Department, in Washington today that the United States will refuse to accept the contention of the Entente Allies that neutral ships should deny the use of their harbors to all submarines, was discussed by the President and the Secretary of State.

In discussion of the submarine attacks Sunday, officials here referred to diplomatic correspondence between the United States and Great Britain, beginning in 1915, in which the American government protested against the patrolling of the American coast outside the three-mile limit by the warships. This was pointed to as providing a precedent for protesting against the patrolling of the American coast by the German submarines.

While no formal announcement was made, it was considered probable the United States would take a position with regard to German submarine operations similar to that assumed in connection with the warships' coast patrolling.

Secretary Lansing came to Long Branch at 11 o'clock this afternoon. No announcement last night. The question of the submarine raid was not discussed until 8 o'clock tonight, when dinner was finished. Then the President and Secretary Lansing went into the entire question in detail.

SUPERBAS WIN 'MIDST THE CONGENIAL ATMOSPHERE ON HOME GROUND AT BROOKLYN

Hits Rang Off Their Bats With the Snap and Deadliness of Bursting Shrapnel, and the Red Sox Were Forced to Yield, by the Score of 4 to 3, to Superior Playing of Their Rivals—Brooklyn

Fans Give a Great Celebration.

Brooklyn, Oct. 10.—The Brooklyn Nationals turned upon the Boston Americans today and wrested victory from the Red Sox by a score of 4 to 3 in the third game of the world's series. True to their predictions, the Superbas, playing at Ebbets' Field, provided far more formidable than when under the spell of Boston's cold domain.

Twice deprived of victories after thrilling battles at Braves' Field, they finally arose in their might this afternoon, and with the plaudits of the home fans ringing in their ears, they battled out a victory with savage vigor.

Brooklyn Took Early Lead. Brooklyn jumped into the lead early in today's contest and was never headed, although the Boston club crept to within a run of tying the score in the closing innings. Neither was the game marked by super-excellent baseball, but Brooklyn won and, with the hope that the team would repeat tomorrow, that was entirely sufficient for their supporters.

In contrast with the Boston games, that of today was played in cool, crisp weather and overcasts were necessary for comfort to the spectators in all but the sunny left field stands.

Great Celebration. As a result of Brooklyn's triumph, their supporters' joy and hopes reached great heights and the victory was followed by one of the most extraordinary celebrations ever seen upon a world's series battlefield. Hardly had Stengel's cheering squad, with their flags and banners, begun to march toward the stadium when thousands of rosters came trooping onto the diamond and outfield, where they appeared to be carried away with the enthusiasm of conquest.

Men and boys with here and there a feminine companion, capered and danced about with joy, while the bands were assembling for the march around the park. With the first notes of march music the fans formed in long lines and once under way began a parade that grew in enthusiasm and numbers as it progressed. It wound in and out in imitation of the college snake dance, while the more sedate of the spectators cheered and yelled. Flags and banners were hurled onto the field, followed by cane seat cushions until the air was filled with flying objects.

Royal Routers Celebrate, Too. Across the field, the Royal Routers of Boston, undaunted by defeat or by the thousands of their rivals, struck up the famous "Tessie" song and march and soon the park was filled with parading battalions. After a number of maneuvers the adherents of the two clubs met in midfield and after a brief exchange of words, they parted.

May's Hit Freely. Carl Mays, the underhand twirler selected by Manager Carrigan to hold the Superbas in check, was less fortunate for the Robinson clan fell upon his offerings with a freedom that they had not displayed against either Shore or Run. They garnered seven hits and four runs before Hendricks went to bat for him in the sixth, Foster replaced him on the mound when the team took the field again. Foster was reached for (Continued on Page Two.)

NO HOSTILE STEP INTENDED BY NEW PREMIER OF JAPAN

Declares He Earnestly Proposes to Promote Friendly Relations With United States.

HE ALSO DISCUSSES CHINA

Says He Will Undertake No New Steps in Regard to American-Japanese Problems.

(Copyright, 1916, by Associated Press.) Tokyo, Oct. 10.—The fears of a section of the Japanese public, which have found an echo in the United States and China, that the coming into power of the new ministry may be tantamount to war, were discussed frankly today by Premier Count Seiki Terauchi, in giving to the Associated Press the first statement he has made in regard to the foreign policy of his administration.

The premier gave expression in a sentence to the spirit which he declared would animate his dealings with other nations. It was the assertion that Japan would not take any aggressive step toward the United States or any other country "so long as Japan's vital interests and dignity are not infringed."

False Comprehension. "Any idea that I shall 'wave the sword' while I am prime minister is based on a false comprehension of my career and a complete misconception of the Japanese empire, its past and its hopes and ideals for the future," he said.

The dramatic summons to the premiership of Field Marshal Terauchi, Japan's dominating military figure, has excited a discussion overshadowed by no single event in modern Japanese history. In view of the world-wide interest in the significance of his appointment and the sagging of it apparently has caused, the premier, who has long had the reputation of taciturnity, consented to break his silence and give to the world through the Associated Press a general idea of his purposes and policies. During the interview he conversed readily in French and then in Japanese.

To Promote Friendly Ties. The premier disclaimed responsibility for the interview in New York with Baron Sakatani, who was quoted as saying that the repeal of American laws regarded by the Japanese as discriminatory against them was a matter of "justice and necessity." He declared emphatically that as premier he would undertake no new steps in regard to the so-called American problems, including immigration. In this respect, he said, he would follow closely the policy of the outgoing cabinet.

"What will be Japan's policy toward China?" the correspondent asked.

The Policy Toward China. "As the ministry was organized only yesterday, I have not discussed China with my associates," he replied. "However, speaking generally, Japan's ambition is to have China benefit, like Japan, from the fruits of world civilization and world progress. The Japanese and Chinese people have sprung from the same stock. Our future destiny is a common destiny that is historically involved."

Though he was unable to dwell on a detailed programme, the premier continued, he could affirm that America's interests in China would be harmed in no wise by Japan, which had no intention of violating Japanese sovereignty or preventing interested nations from having equal opportunity.

"No Closed Door." "People talk of closing the door," he said. "That is a complete nonpossumus."

"So long as Japan's vital interests and dignity are not infringed, Japan will take no aggressive step against any nation, especially America."

"Will the Japanese alliance with Russia be the basis of policy in the Orient?" he was asked.

"Japan, true to her obligations, naturally will be bound in her future policy by her Japanese allies, Great Britain and Russia," he responded. "But that does not imply disregard of fostering amity with others, notably America, whose friendship and co-operation we have every reason to cherish. The empire faces a situation which demands strenuous and unified exertions to secure reforms of the national life to nourish the strength of her resources and to place the nation on an unshakable foundation of secure and lasting peace in the Far East. Our supreme efforts abroad should be to maintain faith with foreign powers, and to be strictly fair and upright. Japan's progress as a world power, which is inevitable must be marked with prudence and caution, especially in the period of world crisis."

No Designs on Philippines. The premier said he saw no likelihood of more active participation in the war by Japan. He ridiculed suspicions that Japan has designs in regard to the Philippines, saying that if power were to be there, he was glad it should be America.

Concerning the contention that the cabinet was reactionary and that its creation was opposed to the rights of the people, the premier said with military brevity: "My appointment is in exact accordance with the provisions of the Japanese constitution."

"Not revolutionary, not aggressive, not militaristic, but constructive—that is my programme," declared the premier in conclusion.

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS

SUPERBAS ARE VICTORIOUS IN THIRD GAME OF SERIES

three hits, but Brooklyn was unable to turn them into runs. All told, Brooklyn got ten hits for a total of 14 bases, while Boston rolled up an aggregate of 12 bases with seven hits.
Hooper, Shorten and Gardner were the heavy hitters for the Red Sox. Hooper acquired two hits, one a triple; Shorten, playing in his first world series, gathered three hits in four trips to the plate, and Gardner made the only hit count when he drove the ball over the wall for a circuit trip.

Daubert the Batting Star.
Captain Jake Daubert was the batting star for the Superbas, collecting three hits in four times at bat after going through the first two games without connecting safely. His final blow was delivered in the sixth inning when he drove the ball to the extreme end of the left field foul line, where Lewis carried it in a corner between two bleacher stands.
Daubert was sprinting around second when the fielder clutched the sphere and had turned third when Scott, in deep short, received the throw. The latter whipped it to Thomas at the plate just as Daubert slid in what he thought was a home run. Umpire O'Day, however, decided that the runner had not touched the plate and the Brooklyn player and fans roared their disapproval of the decision, without effect. Daubert was given credit for a three-base hit by the official scorers and had to be satisfied with that.
Daubert had the satisfaction of scoring the first run of the game when he singled in the third inning, and came home on similar hits by Stengel and Cuthaw. Olson added another in the fourth. He beat out a bunt and ran to second when Gardner's hurried throw went wild. A sacrifice by Miller advanced Olson to third and he scored on a single by Coombs. The Superbas' shortstop also was responsible for driving in Brooklyn's last scores, for, after Mays walked and Mowrey hit in the fifth, Olson boomed out a terrific triple to left center, scoring both.

Hooper Scored First for Boston.
Boston's first run also came about as the result of a free pass. With one out Coombs walked, Hooper's batting for Mays in the sixth and Hooper's three-base slam sent him home. Hooper scored a moment later on Shorten's hit over second. Gardner completed the Red Sox run-making with his homer in the seventh.

There was considerable confusion in the handling of tickets and in the upper stands a large portion was not sold out, but after several hours of struggling with the jumbled coupons it was announced that the official attendance was 21,087 and the gate receipts $62,762. Of this sum the players will receive $17,471.68; each club $12,557.18 and the National Commission $6,739.20. The totals for three games now stand as follows:

Attendance and Receipts.
Attendance, 98,577; receipts $226,577.50; players' share, $123,592.55; each club's share, $41,197.97; National Commission's share, $20,787.98.

VETERAN OF TWO WORLD'S SERIES.

JACK COOMBS

He did splendid twirling for Brooklyn in the early innings of yesterday's game. He received much praise because, feeling himself slipping, he requested that he be relieved rather than take the risk of losing the game to the Red Sox.

Satisfaction Out Of Red Sox Defeat

BOSTON FANS COMFORTED BECAUSE FURTHER WORLD'S SERIES PLAY IN THAT CITY IS NOW ASSURED.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10.—Supporters of the Boston Americans who were unable to follow the team to foreign fields today found cause for satisfaction in its defeat by the Brooklyn Nationals. This satisfaction lies in the fact that Brooklyn's success insures further world series play in this city, as the teams now must return here for the fifth game on Thursday, which is Columbus day, a holiday.

Appreciating the sturdy batting by which Brooklyn gained a victory for the first time in the series, Red Sox followers nevertheless showed no concern over the fate of the local team in the remaining games. Baiting odds remained unchanged and Brooklyn backers were as scarce as on previous days.
Crowds filled newspaper row and other spaces where bulletin boards displayed the game. Governor McCall received a telephoned report, inning by inning, and Mayor Curley was informed frequently of the score.

TWO FACTORS PURSUING
"DEAD" BILLPOSTING TRUST

Combine Which Federal Court Has Ordered Dissolved, Still Active.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—In the war on the "bill posting trust," which Judge Landis months ago ordered dissolved, two flying columns in pursuit of the recalcitrant "trust" may join forces to emphasize their respective complaints to Uncle Sam that the bill posting combine still is in operation. One complainant is the association of independent outdoor advertising agencies, and the other is a strong contingent of advertising agencies under the leadership of a Chicago agency, which has a bill posting department.

TANLAC, THE GREAT NEW MEDICINE, SWEEPS OVER NATION: MERIT WINS AND MULTITUDES GIVE IT PRAISE

"Made Me Younger"—"Put Me Back on the Payroll"—"Gave Me New Life"—In the Thousands of Endorsements Given Master Medicine

This is Tanlac Week.

More than seven million five hundred thousand bottles of Tanlac have been sold in the United States in the two years since the first bottle was sold.

That fact alone is sufficient explanation why Tanlac Week should now be celebrated in cities throughout the United States. The tremendous and unprecedented success of Tanlac could not have been achieved without true merit. The 8,000 druggists who are giving Tanlac their renewed endorsements by special displays this week know that they have behind them the unqualified endorsement of Tanlac by millions of satisfied customers.

No other medicine has ever had the same success that Tanlac has won as a tonic, appetizer, invigorant and revitalizer. Its fame was instantaneous and it spread through the country until today it is known everywhere as The Master Medicine.

True Worth Explains Success

Tanlac's success is easily explained—true worth. The tens of thousands of men and women who have endorsed it praise it because they are grateful for the relief Tanlac has given them.

To suffer from sleeplessness, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, belching and bloating from gas; dizziness and biliousness; kidney and liver troubles, pains in the stomach, the back and the head for years, and then to get relief through a tonic that is pleasant to take, gentle and gradual in its results, renewing the appetite, aiding assimilation, and restoring health, vigor, ambition and strength, is enough to make people grateful.

Tens of thousands of people have said that Tanlac is The Master Medicine. Tanlac Week, therefore, means something to them.

Endorsements are Remarkable

Some of the endorsements of Tanlac are remarkable. They show that taking Tanlac was a profitable investment for sick, weak, nervous, run-down men and women—profitable in more than one way. Some of the praise of Tanlac is in phrases that are written over and over.

"I feel like a new man"—"Tanlac has put me back on the payroll"—"I never lay off from my work since I took Tanlac"—"I do twice as much work as I used to"—"Tanlac has made me feel twenty years younger"—"I wake up in the morning feeling fine now."

Many women have written: "I have my natural color back since I took Tanlac"—"I feel like a girl again"—"My neighbors ask me what I have done to look so young and my answer is Tanlac"—"I feel like a different woman; my housework is a pleasure since I took Tanlac."

Those are some of the expressions which tens of thousands of men and women have used, in statements praising Tanlac.

Tanlac Meets a Need

Prepared from a secret formula, purely vegetable and absolutely free from mineral taint, Tanlac has met the need of a great reconstructive tonic to feed while it heals sick, sore stomachs; to promote digestion, aid assimilation, induce healthy and normal function of the digestive apparatus, and to build up health and strength in a natural way.

Throughout the vast world Nature has placed remedies for the healing of the nations. In Tanlac the best of them are merged for a sensible, reliable remedy. In Tanlac nature offers the great natural remedy for the everyday ills from which millions of men and women suffer.

The ingredients or medicinal elements which make Tanlac come from far separated sections of the globe. It is as though Nature, planting her gardens in every zone of the vast world, permitted man to select the best for compounding into a great remedy. Man has spared no expense or labor to get these best ingredients.

Now a Household Remedy

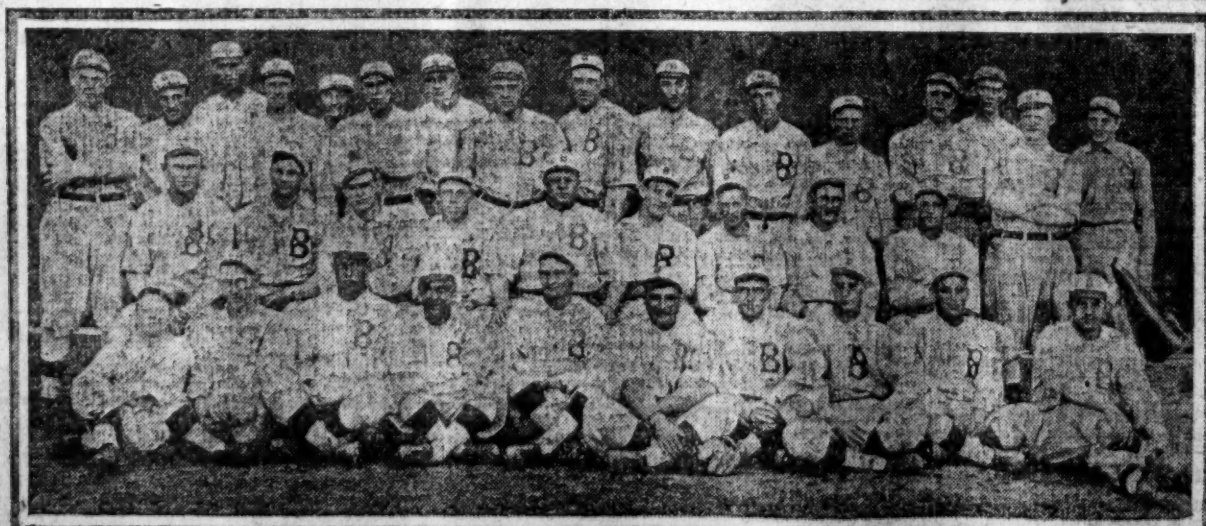

Roots, herbs and barks best suited to a great tonic are used in the making of Tanlac. They are selected scientifically and blended with care. In order to insure a supply of them for Tanlac, The Cooper Medicine Company bought large amounts of certain ingredients. Ten tons of one ingredient were bought on one order.

Tanlac's success, starting so quickly, is lasting. It has become a household remedy and is in two million homes because it is the great medicine which Nature offers from her best products.

Millions of people know this, and Tanlac, therefore, is praised everywhere as The National Tonic—the upbuilder of health and strength through the stomach, blood and nerves.

DECLARES HE SAW THREE SUBMARINES

Norwegian Captain Believes They
All Took Part in Raid Off
Nantucket Sunday.

SUFFICIENT WARNING GIVEN

Crews of Both the Norwegian and Dutch Steamers Sunk Had Plenty of Time to Escape—Captain Rose Was Identified.

New York, Oct. 10.—Captain Grotness, of the Norwegian tank steamer Christian Knudsen, one of the vessels sunk off Nantucket lightship Sunday, officially reported to his agents in New York today his belief that three submarines were operating in the lightship's vicinity.

Captain Grotness, in his report, said he was overhauled by the submarines U-53 and ordered to stop shortly after 1:30 A. M., two warning shots being fired across the bows. The U-boat then drew alongside and Captain Grotness was instructed to come aboard and bring his papers, which he did.

It was while standing on the deck of the U-53 that he saw, according to his report, the conning towers of the two other submarines about four miles distant. The conning towers, he said, were the same shape as the conning tower of the U-boat which he saw.

The cargo of oil aboard the Christian Knudsen was consigned to London. The U-boat commander, however, did not take any of it, as has been reported. Captain Grotness said. The crew were allowed about half an hour to take to their boats before the submarine opened fire on the ship with her deck gun. About 150 shots were fired, most of which hit, but owing to her divided tank construction the ship did not sink. Finally the U-boat discharged a torpedo into her and she blew up.

Another point brought out in the report of Captain Grotness was the short time required for the U-53 to submerge. He reported that while she was shelling the ship, a torpedo boat destroyer came into sight. The submarine commander evidently thought it might be an enemy war vessel, for he immediately submerged, sinking out of sight in 30 seconds. As soon as the destroyer came close enough for the American flag to be recognized, he came up again, popping up out of the water like a cork.

The suggestion of the United States to accede to the allies' suggestion that there appears to be an endeavor of the allied powers to determine the rule of action governing what they regard as a "novel situation" in respect to the use of submarines in time of war and to enforce acceptance of that rule at least in part by warning neutral powers of the great danger to their submarines in waters that may be visited by belligerent submarines.

"In the opinion of the United States the allied powers have not set forth any circumstances nor in the government of the United States at present aware of any circumstances concerning the use of war or merchant submarines which would render the existing rules of international law inapplicable to them.

"In view of this fact, and of the notice and warning of the allied powers announced in their memoranda under acknowledgment it is incumbent upon the government of the United States to notify the governments of France, Great Britain, Russia and Japan that, so far as the treatment of either war or merchant submarines in American waters is concerned, the government of the United States reserves its liberty of action in all respects and will treat such vessels as, in its opinion, becomes the action of a power which may be said to have taken the first steps toward establishing the principles of neutrality and which for a century has maintained those principles in the traditional spirit and with the high sense of impartiality in which they were conceived.

"In order, however, that there should be no misunderstanding as to the attitude of the United States, the government of the United States announces to the allied powers that it holds it to be the duty of belligerent powers to distinguish between submarines of neutral and belligerent nationality, and that responsibility for any conflict that may arise between belligerent warships and neutral submarines on account of the neglect of a belligerent to so distinguish between these classes of submarines must rest entirely upon the negligent power."

SUBMARINE REPORTED OFF TYBEE YESTERDAY

Tybee bar. Custom house officials and those of the British consulate said their information was that the submarine was off the bar this morning.

Information as to whether the undersea boat, said to have been sighted, was merchant or war craft could not be had. Marine men were quite certain that the vessel could not have been the U-53 which wrought havoc to Allied shipping off Nantucket lightship last Sunday, as the vessel would not have had time to get this far south. The U-53 was last reported early Sunday night and since it is a good 500 miles by the shortest water route from Nantucket to Tybee, the U-53 could not have arrived off this coast this morning, even though driven at the fastest speed of which her commander claimed she was capable—18 knots an hour.

Some marine observers suggested that she might be making south to meet a U-boat which would prey on Allied oil tankers carrying oil from the Mexican fields to Europe. Cable dispatches from abroad have indicated that the German raiders would be thus supplied with oil, ammunition and provisions.

CHARLESTON NAVY YARD
HAS RECEIVED NO MESSAGE
Charles City, S. C., Oct. 10.—Captain Benjamin Bryan, U. S. N., commandant

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE IS BARRED

The manager of the International News Service in New York gave categorical assurance that such an incident should not happen again. On the second occasion he made like promises, stating that orders had been given that extraneous statements should not be inserted in cable dispatches.

"On the third of September cablegrams were published in the United States purporting to have come from London by 'International News Service' giving 'various false statements about the air raid of the previous night. None of the statements in question was in fact contained in any cablegrams dispatched by the London correspondent of the International News Service."

"In view of this continued garbling of messages and breach of faith on the part of the 'International News Service,' the secretary of state has directed that no representative of the International News Service shall be permitted to use the official press bureau and that the agency shall be debarred from the use of all other facilities for the transmission of news until further notice."

A verdict of guilty against Dr. John A. VanValzah for practicing medicine without having a license from the State board of medical examiners. The doctor came to this State with licenses from other states and was allowed a temporary license, pending the examinations, and then failed to make the necessary personal examinations.

He continued to practice and the indictment followed.

CUTTER ONONDAGA REACHES SAFETY WITH LINER ANTILLA

Fire in the Steamer's Hold Now Is Virtually Under Control.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 10.—With the fire in her hold practically under control, the Ward liner Antilla early this morning took refuge in Lynn Haven bay, where she was towed by the coast guard cutter Onondaga, assisted by the naval tug Sorcoma and tug Albatores. Arrangements have been made to dock the vessel at the plant of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company's shipyard where she will be towed during the night. A levy gale is sweeping the bay. The Sanoma and Albatores are standing by the Antilla, fighting the fire, which is confined to hold No. 2, and her bow. Hold No. 4 and the engine room are partly flooded, giving the steamer a ten-point list to the port side.

The tug Resolute went to the scene to make a survey of the steamer.

The yacht Pacificque, also towed in by the Onondaga, was brought to Newport News. Her machinery failed while attempting to assist the Antilla.

DR. W. W. BAYS DEAD.

Was Prominent Methodist Minister for Fifty-Two Years.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 10.—The Rev. Dr. W. W. Bays, 77 years of age, for 52 years a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, died at his home here today just one month after his wife and his widow had celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. He had held leading pastorates in Charlotte and Asheville, N. C.; Knoxville, Chattanooga and Bristol, Tenn.; Rome, Ga.; Little Rock, Ark., and several of lesser importance.

Dr. Bays was the father of Miss Mamie Bays, who has been for years a familiar figure in annual State meetings of all denominations in this and other states as a newspaper correspondent.

ZEPPELINS TOOK A DARE.

London and Paris Papers Invited Attack And It Came.

(From the Detroit Free Press.)

Many months ago the French papers, bearing in mind that German airships had not paid a visit for a long time, declared that because of the system of aerial defense organized by the French military authorities it was no longer possible for the Zeppelins to come with safety. Very shortly afterwards, in fact, all along just time enough for the French papers to reach the German headquarters and for the necessary orders to be issued, a Zeppelin appeared over Paris, and escaped without a scratch.

Like A Boy at 50 Bubbling Over With Vitality—Taking Iron Did It

Doctor says Nuxated Iron is greatest of all strength builders—
Often increases the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous folks 200 per cent. in two weeks time.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of 30 and an air of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact a young man he really was, notwithstanding his age. The secret he said was taking iron—Nuxated Iron. He had been in bad health; at 45 careworn and nearly all in. Now at 46 a miracle of vitality and youth. He has lived a hundred times over. Iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only throw away their medicines and nauseous concoctions and take simple nuxated iron, I am convinced that a large majority of thousands of persons might be saved, who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, consumption, kidney, liver and heart trouble, etc. The real and true cause which started their diseases was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down

FUND FOR THE SALARY OF GRAND SECRETARY

Provided for in Will of the Late John C. Drewry.

To be Supplemented by Grand Lodge of Masons—Silk Flag for County Making Greatest Democratic Gain—Raleigh News.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 10.—Through the will of the late John C. Drewry, grand secretary to the North Carolina Grand Lodge of Masons, just probated, there is created a special Grand Secretary fund that will provide for the salary of this officer of the Grand Lodge in future, when the Grand Lodge shall have set aside an additional fund of $10,000 for the purpose.

Mr. Drewry, who was secretary of the Grand Lodge for many years, accumulated a fortune valued at more than a quarter of a million dollars in the life insurance general agency business. The bulk of the estate is left to Mrs. Drewry and her only son, Master John C. Drewry, Jr., the latter's interest being in trust until he is of age and a part of it until he is 35 years old. The interest of Mrs. Drewry reverts to John C. Drewry, Jr., on the death of his mother. The Raleigh Times building on Hargett street belongs to the Drewry estate.

Mr. Drewry left $500 to St. Mary's School and $1,000 to the vestry of Christ church.

Silk Flag for County.

A handsome silk flag is to be awarded by the State Democratic Executive Committee to the Democracy of that county in the State which polls the largest percentage of increase over its 1912 vote on the basis of the vote for Governor in that year. Announcement to this effect is just made by State Chairman Thomas D. Warren. The plan is for the award to be made on the official returns and then the executive committee of the county winning the banner to arrange the time for the banner to be presented. Governor Rickett is to go to the county seat and deliver the address in presentation of the banner in conformity with a programme to be arranged.

Chairman Warren said today that he never knew the Democracy of the State to be more thoroughly active, but he believes that the offer of this banner will impart a zest and enthusiastic competition that will be interesting and fruitful of results. He is delighted with the conditions in all parts of the State. He believes that the Republican candidates with their speeches of misrepresentation and falsehood have been thoroughly discredited and that they are really losing votes every day.

Speakers for Teachers.

President R. H. Wright, of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly, is expected here within the next day or two to go over the tentative programme for the 33rd annual session with Secretary E. B. Sams, in preparation for the issuance of the final programme, the Assembly to be held here during Thanksgiving week, November 22, December 1.

Some of the most notable speakers from a distance who will take part in the programme are Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh, of Pennsylvania; Dr. W. C. Bagley, of New York; Dr. Thomas H. Briggs, Jr., of Columbia University; Dr. Peter W. Dykuna, of Madison, Wis.; and Miss Anna Brechhausen, of Indianapolis, Ind.

More Babies for Contest.

Mrs. W. A. Withers, in charge of the Better Babies feature of the State Fair, wants the mothers all over North Carolina to know that it is desired that babies generally be entered whether they are of the strong robust prize-winning type or not, there being special advantages to those entered in the way of free examinations, tests to condition and advice by experts as to care and treatment they should have. There have been many entries, but there are so many benefits to be derived from listing the babies in this baby show that the State Board of Health, Miss May Reynolds being the clerk in charge of sending out the cards on application.

TRUE BILL RETURNED AGAINST A. ROSCOWER OF GOLDBORO

Charged With False Circulation Statement—Docket Cleared.

Elizabeth City, N. C., Oct. 10.—The grand jury in the Federal court here today returned a true bill against A. Roscower, publisher of the Goldboro Headlight, a weekly newspaper, charged with circulating a false statement through the mails regarding the extent of the circulation of his paper for the purpose of securing advertising. The case was transferred to Wilson for trial.

Grand jury returned not a true bill in the white slave case of Francis L. Dull, supposedly for lack of evidence of payment of transportation.

The docket was cleared of every case today. Judge H. C. Connor presided and District Attorney J. O. Carr, of Wilmington, represented the government in prosecutions.

SAYS DEFINITE DATE MUST BE SET TO WITHDRAW TROOPS

Or Else Mexican Questions Can Not be Disposed Speedily.

San Antonio, Texas, October 10.—Colonel Barragan, chief of staff to First Chief Carranza, said today that an agreement to withdraw American troops from Mexico must be signed and a definite date for withdrawal must be set before any other questions affecting Mexico can be successfully taken up by the Mexican-American commission at Atlantic City.

DON'T BE BALD

Here's a Good Way to Stop Loss of Hair and Start New Hair Growth

If the hair root is absolutely dead, permanent baldness will be your lot, and you might as well cheer up as to bewail your fate.

If your hair is falling or thinning out, don't wait another day, but go to R. R. Bellamy and get a bottle of Parisian Sage, the truly efficient hair grower.

Don't say, "It's the same old story. I've heard it before," but try a bottle at their risk. They guarantee Parisian Sage to grow hair, to stop falling hair, to cure dandruff and stop scalp itch, or money back.

Parisian Sage contains just the elements needed to properly invigorate and nourish the hair roots. It's a prime favorite with discriminating ladies because it makes the hair soft, bright, and appear twice as abundant. It is antiseptic, killing the odors that are bound to arise from excretions of the scalp and as everyone knows, sage is excellent for the hair and scalp. Parisian Sage is inexpensive and easily obtainable at drug and toilet counters everywhere.

They Will Add $175 to the HUDSON SUPER-SIX

This announcement, just made by the Hudson factory, is published for your advantage. We have some cars of the present production due us on allotment. They will be sold at present prices, while they last. After that, the Super-Six will cost all buyers $175 more.

We have just had word from the Hudson factory to the following effect:

The cars we have ordered of the present production will be delivered at present prices. But all cars of the new production—starting December 1—will cost $175 more.

The models will not be changed. The changes, if any, will be only minor refinements.

There will positively be no change in the Super-Six motor.

But cars now coming are built from materials contracted more than a year ago. The Super-Six will continue to be built from the same materials. But costs have advanced enormously.

So cars of the new production must be advanced in price. There is no way out for any maker, save by sacrificing standards. And Hudson will not do that on the Super-Six.

Cars at Present Prices for a Few

We have some Super-Sixes ordered which are still unsold. Some are open models, some enclosed. If we held them they would net us a handsome extra profit. But that profit is yours if you wish to buy now—while our allotment lasts.

It will mean to you a saving of $175.

All our cars of this production, now on hand or coming, will be sold at present prices.

Note These Facts About the Hudson Super-Six

It is now the largest-selling fine car in the world. It holds every world record worth having. It has won every contest it entered.

It holds all the speed records for stock cars, up to 100 miles.

It holds the 24-hour endurance record of 1819 miles. It won the Pike's Peak hill-climb—the greatest test of the kind ever held.

It holds the ocean-to-ocean record—the most sought-for record in America.

It ran from San Francisco to New York in 5 days, 3 hours and 31 minutes—14 hours and 59 minutes better time than the next best record.

It won all these records through super-endurance—the most important factor in a car.

This invention added 80 per cent to motor efficiency, by reducing vibration, friction and wear.

It is patented, so it cannot be imitated. And no other motor ever built approaches its efficiency.

It is so nearly perfect that no change will be made in it, after all this year of testing.

Numerous fine cars which cannot match its performance sell at much higher prices.

The highest standards of Motordom are maintained in this car. Every detail of the chassis and body does credit to the motor.

If you want such a car—now or next year—you can save $175 by deciding the question now.

Come and let us give you details.

Also I ask, yet ever from the making that I have made.

—MEYERS.

If we can't win with Wilson's record,
then records don't count.

The drift is towards Wilson—even strong Republicans are drifting to him.

After some people have said enough
they insist on saying something else.

Some good opportunities are knocking and some good people are knocking good opportunities.

It takes a man to "see snakes," but a woman can see a "snake in the grass" before a man can lamp a thing.

South Carolina Democrats will be divided into factions so long as the newspapers are factious and fractious.

A man may be as good as his word,
but maybe he doesn't have to be very good in order to be as good as his word.

Some men imagine they are working while they are working others. Others get busy and work both sides of the street.

Sometimes we depend on a man for good judgment, but he gives us his idea without taking time to mobilize his judgment.

The politicians tell us that the people can be trusted, but a groceryman will not take the word of the politicians for it.

Teddy acknowledges that he sold himself a gold brick in 1908, so he need not be surprised if he has fooled himself again.

Some Republicans are talking out-through their hats. They start in big, like they are going somewhere. For the love of Mike, they are on the way to the little end of the horn.

It is a curious fact that high priced bread is almost valueless. The fault is in the milling process which removes from 25 to 50 per cent of the staff of life from the so-called staff of life.

Calm yourself! President Wilson knows his course, for he has steered for two years between Scylla and Charybdis. He knows the chart better than all the loud-langued landlub-bers.

If Judge Hughes wants us to know what to expect of him if he is elected,
he had better tell us what he proposes to do. We are not satisfied with him on account of what he threatens to undo.

The worst knocker is the citizen who throws cold water on propositions that he cannot see through or which he is not interested in putting through. A man of standing can down a good proposition by throwing cold water on it in a way that will give a hundred men cold feet.

Republicans in North Carolina object to having their bad party record recalled, but, as that is the only kind of record that party has, how can it be helped? They go around inviting unwelcome reminiscences by treading on the coals of the Democrats. Republican deceivers are investing a lot of molehills with the scenery of regular mountains, so the Democrats are forced to open up the sewer of the past to keep the ranters from getting too gay. In the days of fusion, the people gave the Republicans a chance to improve on their Reconstruction record, but they added another chapter to a rotten and reeking old story. They faded out and should stay out.

OUR VEGETABLE OIL POSSIBILITIES

Once more we renew The Star's former assertions that botany and chemistry offer a rich field for the young men of the South, for the simple reason that the field is broad in the South for the chemist and the botanist. The two sciences are closely allied, in a practical sense, and the great use to which either can be put in the South is beginning to dawn upon the people.

Our people do not begin to know the vegetable oil possibilities in the South,
any more than they once knew the possibilities in the South's cotton seed,
now selling at something like $50 a ton
for the manufacture of oil and the valuable by-products which make all the seed constituents practical necessities to man. The oil, the cotton seed meal, the hulls, and the de-lint by-product indicate to us that there is scarcely a bit of waste in the process of utilizing the seed in manufacture.

Probably of no less importance is the oil possibility in the peanut, already one of the leading farm products in North Carolina. Eastern North Carolina is the home of the peanut, and some of our farmers are now growing two crops of them a season. The peanut is no joke, because it is a world recognized staple, and it is now listed with cotton, tobacco and sugar as an acceptable commodity which the Federal regional banks consider as collateral for money loans. The peanut is coming into its own. The peanut is worth the money, too, and it is better than gold, for gold is declining in its purchasing power, while the peanut is increasing in value because of the various uses for it and the steadily increasing demand for this great North Carolina product.

The other day it was our pleasure to back for a couple of hours in the presence of our old friend, Maj. John M.
Burke, of Buffalo Bill's 101 Ranch Show. Major Burke is a world traveler, and is not only one of the most intelligent and interesting of globe travelers but he is a delightful and instructive companion when he takes a notion that he has the time to spare. He has been all over the several war fronts in Europe and knows all the ground as we do the sections of North Carolina that we have visited. Buffalo Bill's show has exhibited all over Europe, and Major Burke showed us the show's European itinerary, giving the dates for the show all over Europe. The show did a fine business in the Trentino, and Trieste was down on the bills. Then there was Lemberg, in Hungary, and thousands of cities in every country in Europe. "Oh, well,"
he said, "the people of all those countries are pretty much like those over here, for they enjoyed the Wild West show and they have munched our pen-nuts from one end of Europe to the other."

There is where a frown clouded the major's brow, because he was worried at the very thought of peanuts. He declared that it is difficult now for American shows to get their immense peanut supplies. The crop is short, but, over and above all, the uses of the pen-nut have immensely increased. Thousands of tons of them are now being used for the manufacture of oil, peanut butter, fine confections, and the finest boudoir soaps. Thus the value of the peanut is steadily on the increase, and the consequently great and increasing demand is making the circus men winkle up their brows about the poor prospects of getting their huge supply.

Well, the peanut certainly is feeling its oats since it is a bankable asset for a farmer or a warehouse man.
The 1910 census shows that this country used all its own production of pen-nuts and imported nearly 20,000,000 pounds from foreign countries. There is now a growing demand for peanut oil, which takes the place of some 30 different kinds of oils heretofore imported from India, China and the Asian islands. The foreign vegetable oils are now practically shut out by the war in Europe, so the peanut has to be dependent upon for its princely oil.

North Carolina and all the South Atlantic is the home of the peanut, but The Star is no peanut prophet when it predicts that the future of the pen-nut is to astonish the natives. Already the European war is compelling the oil people to look to the South for their vegetable oil supply. They are sending chemists to the South to look into its vegetable oil possibilities. American manufacturers and chemical works are embarrassed because of the shortage of the necessary foreign oil supplies, and right now a number of chemists are carefully investigating the South's seed oil producing possibilities.

All are agreed as to the oil value of the soy bean which grows to such perfection in Eastern North Carolina. We can't raise too many of them, for the census shows that we imported 29,000,- 000 pounds from foreign countries in the census year. The market in America for vegetable oils is so immense that during the census year we imported these oils to the value of $20,- 560,000, free of duty, and $10,785,000 worth subject to a tariff duty. That is more than $31,000,000 that the South can go after with its vegetable oil products. There are millions in the possibilities, as we see.

A man sided up to us the other day and began to rock the boat—with himself. We were not in it with him, but if we could borrow the money we would buy him out at his calamitized estimate and then sell him at his Rotarian value. The chorus of the "Rotarians begins with those Shakespearean words, 'Now comes the winter of our discontent made glorious summer.' A warm number can get ahead but a cold footed simply stands still and kicks.

A CONSTRUCTIVE EVENT.

The livestock exposition and cattle
conference to be held at Orangeburg,
S. C., today and tomorrow is a notable event and doubtless it will attract a large attendance of progressive farmers and constructive men from all portions of South Carolina. It is a state-wide affair and is even more, for all North Carolinians interested in the livestock industry have been invited to attend.

Orangeburg has made elaborate arrangements and preparations for this important event and it will prove a potential stimulus to a branch of farm industry that will immensely enlarge farm opportunities in the South Atlantic section. The affair will be impressive in demonstration and strong in suggestion, and the exposition of livestock and the discussion of the industry by experts can but open widely the door of opportunity for animal husbandry as a profitable source of farm income in the Carolinas.

The Star heretofore has emphasized the advantage of the exposition and conference at Orangeburg, and so far as the practical lesson it will bring home to us, we get the following from the Charleston News and Courier as to the exhibit feature of the occasion:
"It will provide, too, an impressive exhibit of actual achievement—a demonstration of what has been done and is being done in livestock in this state. Some of the exhibitors, with the livestock they will show, are the following: L. L. Guldin, Lugoff, Herefords;
J. W. Boykin, Camden, short-horns; A.
E. Miller, Greer, R. M. Cooper, Jr., Wilmington, Guernseys; Dr. Tom Kinard, Ninety-Six, Devons and Ayrshires; J. R.
Wertz, Ninety-Six, Jersey cattle and Duroc-Jersey hogs; Dutch Fork Farm, Columbia, Tamworth and Hampshire
hogs; and Angola goats; Tom Moss, Cameron, Poland Chinas; Dr. S. J. Summers, Ninety-Six, Essex; G. L. Tool,
Aiken, mule-foot hogs; F. E. Hinnant, Ridgeland, C. L. C. hogs. With that exhibit of fine South Carolina livestock
before one's eyes, how can anybody maintain that livestock cannot be made a go in South Carolina?"

The Orangeburg chamber of commerce has the exposition and conference in hand and that live body guarantees that it is to be worth the attendance of hundreds of men interested in greater constructive development of our agricultural sections. There will be instructive addresses and discussions by government experts, experienced stockmen and practical agriculturalists from every quarter. It is a great opportunity for us as well as for South Carolina, and it is especially to the advantage of Wilmington and New Hanover county, as well as all our Cape Fear counties, to get inspiration from that great livestock movement by intelligent and observant men. We must get into close touch with such movements, if we are to conceive and interpret the broad opportunities that lie before us for new initiative and greater development.

THE PROSPERITY WAVE

Prosperity under the Wilson administration is the greatest in the history of the Nation. It also is a prosperity of the most marvelous character, for the country's wealth has increased so rapidly and enormously that no precedent can compare with it. The notable feature of this gain of national wealth is that prices are giving us a run for our money. Wealth is expanding and prices are increasing as if to keep up with the procession. That always is one of the penalties of such a rapid pace in the accumulation of wealth.

This wealth, unfortunately, does not belong to the masses who necessarily are bearing the brunt of world war prices, but already readjustment is setting in. Wages are increasing and a reaction will sooner or later be to the advantage of the employed class of the people. Labor is shifting from the low to the high priced labor zone, and competition in labor will sooner or later bring about a wage level all over the country. Meanwhile, there is the utmost confidence in the future. Judge Hughes is in the minority when he talks about "temporary prosperity," for the great financiers have no idea of any temporary feature about it. Financiers don't know how far ahead it will stop,
but not for a long time will there be any let up to it, is the opinion of the National City Bank of New York, the world's world's most powerful financial institution. Thus the October circular of the National City Bank states it:

"The fall of the year is naturally the season of the greatest trade activity.
The crops go on the market at this time and cause a wide distribution of funds, the preparations for winter mean a heavy retail trade, the transportation lines are usually at their maximum traffic and nearly all industries are normally busy. Last year the volume of business crept slowly upward through the first eight months and rounded into full activity in the fall. Since then there has been no let up, and about the only difference apparent as we come again into the fall season is that prices are rising. When all agencies of production are driven to capacity an increasing demand works itself out in this manner. Notwithstanding the fact that the business was good in September last year, bank clearings in the month just closed were about 40 per cent, in volume above that time. Railway traffic is up to the capacity of the lines, surpassing all records, and complaints of car shortage are heard from many quarters.

There is more confidence in the future than has been felt at any time in the last two years. This does not mean that there are no apprehensions of an industrial slump after the war, but that with the profits of the last year applied to indebtedness or added to resources, the position of the industries is inherently stronger. Moreover,
there is a feeling that business is accumulating which will come forward
when war orders are out of the way.
In early fall there is difficulty in getting orders filled. Foreign trade in ordinary merchandise is all parts of the world, is growing, because there is no other place to get the goods and this fact will prevent any accumulation of stocks until some time after the war.

Enormous purchases of copper by foreign governments have strengthened
the market position of that metal, and given assurance of a continuance of prosperity in the copper mining districts far into next year. Silver is also in a strong position, owing to the suspension of production in Mexico and the demands of European countries for coinage purposes. Considerable silver has gone from China to India, but this only means that later on the Chinese stock will have to be replenished.
The price is not likely to yield much until Mexican supplies come forward again.

The iron and steel situation is stronger than ever. Prices are higher in nearly all lines. It goes without saying that no consumptive demand which can be postponed is contesting for supplies on the present level. The railways have finally come into the market for cars and other equipment which is imperatively demanded. The requirements of the ship-building industry are very heavy, and likely to be so for several years to come. General construction, and the work involved in new enterprises is light, but there is a large amount of building for the enlargement of industries that are now pushed to capacity.

The crops are short but their money value will be greater than that of normal crops. That increases the cost of living, but the economists are figuring on cheaper bread by reason of the fact that the Argentine wheat crop will be harvested in December, while the possibility of the opening of the Dardenelles for the outflow of Russian wheat is being figured on as an element of relief. Meanwhile the situation is one of adjusting earnings to the flush situation that prevails in the financial and commercial world.

We are going ahead and nobody wants to stop till all of us get our share of the great wealth that is accumulating in this country. The people want to keep Wilson in the White House at Washington so he can continue his wise administration for all classes of Americans.

CAPE FEAR CITY BUILDERS.

The Chambers of Commerce of Wilmington, Southport and Fayetteville have a fine opportunity to co-operate in the building of three great cities of the Cape Fear ocean gateway.

Southport has long had a vision and the quicker it is realized upon the better it will be for Wilmington and Fayetteville.

Wilmington has a mission, and it is to make herself great by co-operating with Fayetteville and Southport in making them great.

Fayetteville has a new vision owing to the fact that the canalization of the upper Cape Fear will be a finished project by the first of January. The quicker Fayetteville realizes her vision
the better it will be for Wilmington and Southport.

The slogan for these three cities ought to be, "Each for itself and Each for All." Co-operation between Wilmington, Fayetteville and Southport will make a great commercial waterway of the Cape Fear, for each of the three cities has its advantages for making the most of North Carolina's ocean gateway. Each is a potential unit for fully developing the commercial and industrial possibilities of the whole Cape Fear region.

As soon as the war in Europe is over,
the world will be readjusting itself to new and vastly changed conditions, and the mere fact offers a great opportunity for us to make of the Cape Fear ocean gateway what it ought to be.

No doubt North Carolina looks to Wilmington, Southport and Fayetteville to do it. These three cities ought to lead the way, anyhow, and all they have to do is to start something.

Any other North Carolina city on the Cape Fear would take the initiative,
but that belongs to our three Cape Fear cities. Therefore, it is up to us to make a note that will sound like something.

If we could bring a half million people and scores of industries into this Cape Fear country it would be made the greatest section in America. Its ocean, waterway and rail facilities for transportation offer opportunities for reaching all the world. The world is Wilmington's, Southport's and Fayetteville's if they will only get together and go after it.

Building up on the inside of Wilmington, the inside of Southport, the inside of Fayetteville, and building up all three by building up the outside for a stretch of 100 miles up and down the Cape Fear and 100 miles on either side of the Cape Fear is a great big job for the three cities. Yet they can get the co-operation of the people in about 20,000 square miles of resourceful territory.

Opportunity is knocking at our door,
if we don't turn around and knock at opportunity.

MAGNOLIA NEWS NOTES

Mr. J. C. Quinn Dead—Farmers of Section Enjoying Prosperity.
(Special Star Correspondence.)
Magnolia, N. C., Oct. 10.—Mr. J. C.
Quinn died yesterday of blood poisoning. He leaves a wife and several children. He was about 58 years old.
Mr. Quinn was a successful farmer and lived about three miles from town.

The books for registration for the coming election will be open until October 28.
The farmers around here are enjoying a very prosperous season. Tobacco and cotton and all other farm products are bringing excellent prices, and while there is not as much tobacco and cotton made on account of the short crop, as generally is, the prices are very much better than they were last year. Everybody seems to be well pleased, except a few old grumblers who seem to be afflicted with rheumatism of the mind.

Be thankful for peace and prosperity and help the Wilson Club in its efforts to re-elect Wilson.

Mr. Taft now says he would have

It seems pretty clear now that the U-S did not call at Newport on a mission of peace. The letter to von Barnett must have been important,
one would think, to warrant the submarine's advertisement of its presence in American waters. But whatever the nature of its business at Newport, the torpedoing of British steamships near Nantuxet shows that the Kaiser's emissary did not come across the Atlantic on a pleasure trip. This sudden shifting of submarine warfare on British commerce to this side of the ocean
may or may not be attended with momentous consequences. If the Germans have a base of operations close at hand, and have other submarines on this side, they may be able to cause more than a transient panic among British carriers. And the creation of a war zone close to our coasts will not lessen the chances of international complications, nor public interest in this country in questions relating to the European struggle.—Baltimore

ROTARIANS OPPOSED TO IMPROVING FERRY

Believe Government Will Permit
the Erection of Bridge.

Will Continue Efforts for Securing Better Service on Clyde Line, Better Streets and Other Necessary Improvements.

General Grant's proverbial determination was not more firm than is the decision of the Rotary Club to stand for a bridge across the Cape Fear river until the government engineers absolutely place themselves on record against it or else the Board of Commissioners submit the proposition to the people.

The Rotarians at their regular meeting and luncheon yesterday went on record as opposing any steps being taken towards getting an improved ferry until every means has been exhausted for securing a bridge that will adequately meet the needs of Wilmington and of Brunswick county. The special bridge committee of the Rotary Club was also authorized to confer with a similar committee from the Chamber of Commerce with a view to taking steps for finding out from the government just what kind of bridge can be built that will not be a menace to navigation.

"We need some pepper in this town," declared Rotarian Joe Jacoby in discussing the question of securing better freight service on the Clyde Line. He was making a report for the committee appointed to investigate the matter of securing better service on the Clyde Line. Pressure has been brought to bear in New York, he declared, but it is a many-sided question and there are a great many complications. He did not think that the business men of the city should quietly submit to a hindrance to the prosperity of the city without knowing the reason why.

The cleaning up of the streets, the improvement in the paving of Red Cross and Dock streets, the need of extending the waterworks system to the northern part of the city, the important problem of stopping an exodus of negro laborers from the city were some of the other matters that came up for discussion at the meeting.

That a bridge across the Cape Fear river is an absolute necessity to the city and that the Rotary Club should not stop its efforts now was the opinion of Rotarian DeWitt C. Love, chairman of the bridge committee, who explained that the bridge has been spent by the government in dredging the river channel which, while of great worth, is not more important than the matter of securing better transportation for the city.

Rotarian Edward P. Bailey explained that the reason, as he understood it, why the government turned down the last specifications for a bridge was because the draw was too high.

He believed that the permission of the government could be secured for a bridge with a wider draw.

Rotarian Joe Jacoby thought that every Rotarian ought to pledge himself as favoring a bridge. Rotarian George P. Galvin thought that the first thing to be done is to "convert" the Board of Commissioners and he believed this could be done by showing them that the people want the bridge and are determined to have it. After considerable discussion, Rotarian Roger Moore moved that the club again go on record as favoring a bridge until all means had been exhausted for obtaining it.

Rotarian Abe Einstein presented the report of the committee for securing better service in the Clyde Line. He thought it a vital matter. From what he had been able to learn, Rotarian Roger Moore thought it was purely a business proposition and that the Clyde Line could hardly be blamed for sending its ships to the West Indies when a vessel could make as much on a single trip as it could by running six months to Wilmington. Others pointed out, however, that the Clyde Line is furnishing much better service to Charleston and Savannah than to Wilmington.

Rotarian DeWitt C. Love was afraid that the question had been approached in a spirit of antagonism when it ought to have been dealt with in a spirit of co-operation. The special committee was continued and instructed to confer today with the traffic committee of the Chamber of Commerce to see if some steps cannot be taken for getting better service.

Rotarian Davis H. Howes presented the report of the committee on waterworks extension, stating that he and the other members had gone before City Council and requested that the industries in the northern part of the city be given adequate fire protection but had been able to obtain little satisfaction because it was stated that there was no money with which to do the work.

Rotarian Will Rehder called attention to the bad condition of Red Cross street and others present spoke of the need of improving Dock street.

Rotarian Edward P. Bailey in making a report for the committee on negro labor stated that he had gone before City Council and asked that the improvement of some of these streets be undertaken in order to provide the negroes with something to do and thus kill two birds with one stone. But as there was a lack of money, it seemed that the only thing that could be done was to have bond issues.

He suggested that a labor bureau could help in solving the vexing problem. The committee was continued and asked to hold further conferences.

Rotarian DeWitt C. Love called attention to the need of cleaning up the streets and the Civic committee was asked to take steps towards getting this done.

The club enriched its treasury by several dollars by imposing a fine of ten cents on each Rotarian who addressed another as "Mister." This proved to be a splendid means of raising funds for the club.

Judge Stacy Honor Guest.
The following dispatch from Winston-Salem, reprinted from yesterday's Charlotte Observer, will be read with interest in Wilmington. Judge W. P. Stacy, of Wilmington, said to be the youngest Superior court judge in the State, who is presiding over a term of Forsyth's criminal court here, will be the guest of the Twin City Club at a smoker tomorrow evening. He will make an address on the subject of "State Building."

CHANDLER CASE AIRED BEFORE HEALTH BOARD

Dr. Sidbury Outlines Causes for the Complaint Made.

Unfortunate Conditions at Isolation Ward, Now Remedied, Believed to Have Been Result of Misunderstanding.

Practically the whole of the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Health held yesterday afternoon at the county court house, was devoted to discussion of the complaint of Mrs. E. C. Chandler concerning the treatment to which she and her child, who is a patient in the isolation ward of the James Walker Memorial Hospital, suffering from infantile paralysis, were subjected Monday night following their removal to the institution from the Colonial Apartments.

As outlined to the board by Dr. J. B. Sidbury, the attending physician, Mrs. Chandler's complaint, in substance, was that she and her child were taken out to the hospital and placed in the isolation ward, which is in a separate building, a considerable distance away from the main building, without the requisite comforts; that the room was not clean; that no milk was provided for the child and that she could not obtain any although she tried to do so repeatedly; and that the bedding furnished by the hospital was infected with vermin. When first diagnosed the case was in charge of Dr. Sidbury and he was to continue its treatment at the hospital. He accompanied the mother and child to the hospital about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. According to his statement to the members of the Board of Health, at 11 o'clock Monday night, on the occasion of his next visit to his patient, finding that the deficiencies had not been supplied, he notified the quarantine officer, Dr. Stovall, who immediately went to the hospital and found out what was needed.

Dr. Charles T. Nesbitt, county health officer, made the following statement following the meeting of the Board of Health:

"As soon as Dr. Stovall learned what was needed, he supplied the deficiencies from his own home, included among which were milk, ice, bed-linen and towels. These were taken to the hospital about midnight.

"Arrangements had been made for the reception of the patient by Dr. R. B. Slocum, business manager of the hospital and also a member of the Board of Health, and he notified the Health Department that the room was ready for the patient.

"The officials of the Health Department assumed that the isolation ward was furnished with the requisite furniture and other comforts and they were not notified of any deficiencies until 11 o'clock Monday night, at which time they were notified by Dr. Sidbury. Dr. Sidbury, however, had notified the hospital about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, or at the time the patient was taken to the hospital.

"Later an officer of the Health Department went to the isolation ward, and removed the patient to another room. The room and its contents were then thoroughly treated with insecticide and cleaned.

"Dr. Stovall and myself went to the isolation ward again to see what further was needed for the comfort of the patient and provided new beds, springs and mattresses for the mother and child, as well as rug for the floor, a nursery, ice chest, bed linen, pillows, blankets, vessels for disinfecting clothing, disinfectants and later on heating appliances.

"The list of provisions desired were furnished Monday afternoon, and this list included milk, which article was for some reason not delivered although ordered. The Health Department was not notified of the non-delivery of the milk or of the other deficiencies until 11 o'clock Monday night. Sufficient supplies of all kinds have now been supplied, including an abundance of milk. Arrangements have also been made for the installation of a telephone for Mrs. Chandler's use."

At the meeting of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon, Mr. W. H. Sprunt and Dr. George G. Thomas, members of the board of directors of the hospital, were both present and made brief statements. Both stated that certain of the conditions described were "inexcusable," but expressed the opinion that the whole matter, although most unfortunate, was the result of a misunderstanding.

Dr. Nesbitt, in connection with the matter of co-operation, took occasion to state that the Health Department had experienced some difficulty in the past in getting reports from the hospital; that the clerical staff had not always been prompt in sending in birth certificates; that patients with febrile symptoms had been reported as typhoid, although later reports from the attending physicians showed typhoid had not really developed.

Mr. Sprunt and Dr. Thomas both assured Dr. Nesbitt that the hospital management desired to co-operate in every way with the Health Department and suggested that a written statement of the above matters be made the board of directors, and the matters in question would be rectified.

Superintendent H. A. Coddington made the following statement last night with reference to matter in question:

"The instructions given me as superintendent of the hospital by the board of managers and a member of the Board of Health were to provide simply the room for the mother and child, and this to include beds and sufficient linen and that further necessities would be provided by the health officer of New Hanover county. These necessities were to include all food stuff and further comforts, and no medical treatment was to be furnished by the hospital.

"Complaint was made to me by Mrs. Chandler about 7 o'clock Monday night, that no food had come for the child. I immediately endeavored to notify the attending physician as well as Dr. Stovall of her complaint, but was unable to get in touch with them, after repeated calls over telephone.

"Finally, I gave the diminutive pickaninny, who was arrested Monday night for an alleged assault on a little white boy, created considerable interest in the court room. Recorder Emile discharged him with a reprimand.

DOWN-TOWN LOCATION FOR THE CORN SHOW

On Chestnut to Third Street and
One Block on Second Street.

Corn Show Parade Will Be Big Feature This Year—Arrangements Being Made for the Tents, Features.

The public will be interested to know that the Wilmington Corn Show this year will have an ideal central location on Chestnut street, beginning at The Star office and going back to Third street and one block on Second street, from Chestnut to Grace, which increases the available space for exhibits by 50 per cent and which will assure an unusually large attendance during the four days of the fair, November 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

A special committee from the Executive Committee, of the Corn Show, recently had a conference with a committee from City Council and the request for this location was granted after due consideration. The special committee reported to the Executive Committee at a meeting last night and the location was accepted by the committee as the best available place.

The patrons of the Corn Show last year were exceedingly pleased with the location and it has been the consensus of opinion in the community that a downtown central location was by far the best place for a large attendance and would add more than ordinary attraction to the show. The location is of special significance in attracting the interest of outsiders and it is expected that this year the attendance will be unusually large from the nine surrounding counties included in the territory of the fair.

The chairman of the Tent Committee, Mr. Raymond Hunt, reported to the Executive Committee last night that arrangements were being made with the same concern that supplied the tent last year to furnish them again. He also stated that plans for a 50 per cent increase had been taken into consideration by his committee.

The Finance Committee, who are approaching the business public to secure subscriptions to the underwriting plan, has met with splendid success up to the present and will continue its efforts until a sufficient fund is secured to assure the success of the undertaking. The merits of the show last year and the excellent manner in which the finances were handled, has made the task of the committee much more successful this year for a larger proposition.

Of special interest this year will be the Corn Show Parade, which created so much attention and favorable comment last year. The parade this year will not only be spectacular and interesting, but will represent every phase of business activity in the city. This feature it is believed, will attract a large number of outsiders to Wilmington.

MILITARY "PREPAREDNESS"

Big Spectacle Will Be One of Features of Buffalo Bill Shows.

Scenes from the life of George Washington, "boys in khaki" are, it is announced, accentuated in the performances of the combined Buffalo Bill and 101 Ranch shows, which are scheduled to exhibit in Wilmington Monday, October 14, "Preparedness," which is the name of the new military spectacle offered as the leading feature of this season's exhibition, is, it is announced, presented on a scale of magnificence that will attract attention to realistic detail that would have been impossible without the active co-operation of the United States War Department. Purely as a military spectacle "Preparedness" is said to be an absorbingly interesting and thrilling presentation of military strenuousness, while, as a patriotic appeal to the country it is declared to be without precedent. An army of soldiers and hundreds of horses are utilized in the display.

Among the other offerings made possible by a big congress of cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, Mexicans and other Wild West people is an attack on a pioneer's train of "prairie schooners" by Sioux Indians; the capture and punishment of the horse thief, according to the summary code of the early days of the frontier; a stage coach hold-up, in which a big bunch of Mexicans are utilized; the pony express, showing how the mail was carried by means of relays of fast horses; a buffalo hunt, illustrating the Indian method of stalking the wild bison; Indian sun, green corn, ghost and war dances, led by the great Sioux medicine man, Lone Wolf; a round-up of long-horned cattle, in which the skill of the cowboys, both as horsemen and in handling the lariats is shown; rough riding by cowboys and no less daring cowgirls, and other exhilarating events. For the purposes of the broncho-busting contests 50 wild horses have, it is announced, recently arrived from the 101 Ranch at Bliss, Oklahoma, and there will be two performances, at 2:15 and 8:15, preceded by a characteristic military and frontier parade at 10:30 in the morning.

As Army Surgeon in Reserve Corps He Is Ordered to Washington.

Dr. Thos. E. Gore, of this city, yesterday received orders from the War Department to report at once for active duty in Washington, D. C., as a United States army surgeon in the Reserve Corps. Dr. Gore left last night for Washington.

Just where he will eventually be stationed is not known, but it is presumed he will probably take the field with troops, and it is not at all unlikely that he will be sent to the Mexican border for duty with the National Guard organizations on duty there.

FLAMES CONSUME OLD HANDLE FACTORY HERE

Speculator Fire In Southern Part Of Wilmington

Firemen Battle Valiantly to Extinguish Blaze But Efforts Unavailing. Loss of About $6,000 Covered by Insurance.

South Wilmington was the scene of a spectacular blaze yesterday afternoon when the spoke and handle factory at the foot of Meares street owned by the Germania Manufacturing Company, which has been idle for the past two years, with the exception of the engine house, was burned to the ground while the firemen worked valiantly to stop it but without success. The property loss was estimated at between $6,000 and $7,000 and is covered by insurance.

The blaze was discovered by Jack Smith, an aged negro, who was on duty as watchman, who found it burning in the roof. He sent his daughter to a nearby point to call the fire department which responded promptly. A strong northeast breeze was blowing and the firemen upon their arrival found the fire burning in the south end of the two-story building, the flames being little retarded by the wind which was blowing against them.

The fire boat Atlantic was dispatched to the scene, but owing to the shallow water could not get within a distance of less than 200 yards from the building. However, a stream was set going from the river while two others were started, one being from a hydrant on Meares street, a distance of 800 feet away, and another from Front and Meares, a distance of about 1,300 feet. It was not considered necessary to use the fire engines as additional pressure would have had little effect in combatting the flames.

The old building was erected a half century ago by the late Edward Kidder and the timber in it was of a very substantial nature, much of it being lightwood. This burned rapidly, although it required several hours for the building to be eaten up by the flames. The engine house on the north side was prevented from being burned by the efforts of the firemen.

The strong wind caused sparks to be carried to the recently erected lumber plant of the Chadbourne Lumber Company, several blocks to the south, on the river front, and the roof of this building was ignited at several points. The fire boat was carried down the river to this point and extinguished these blazes with but slight damage resulting to this plant.

The handle factory, which was formerly owned by the late George W. Kidder, had not been in operation for more than two years, but a watchman had been kept on the property. There was a considerable quantity of handles in the factory that had not been disposed of and also a boat and some machinery.

The cause of the fire was not determined. While it was at first thought that a flying spark had started it, this was considered hardly probable, as the building was covered with tin.

The smoke from the burning lightwood could be seen from all parts of the city while the flames leaping high in the air made a spectacular scene, a dismal cloudy afternoon. A crowd of several thousand people was attracted to the scene but the firemen were not molested in their work as a better view could be secured by standing on the top of the hill from the rear.

General Secretary Huntington presided over the meeting and in the opening talk outlined the work for the winter, after which Mr. R. B. Dixon, dean of the institute, spoke on the value of education; Mr. K. B. Knudson on his experience in the New York Evening High School; Mr. B. H. Houston, teacher of the sixth grade work also encouraged the boys in their effort to build up their minds, after which Mr. C. W. Johnson, boys' work secretary, spoke at length on the importance of an education in a boy's life. Mr. Odie B. Hinnant, city boys' work secretary, also addressed the meeting, appealing to the boys to make the best out of life and to use their every faculty not only for their own upbuilding but for the upbuilding of those around them. The committee feels that the outlook for the institute is more than encouraging, and hopes for a splendid winter's work.

RED CROSS SOCIETY MEETS

Plans Made For the Christmas Sale of Seals—Various Reports Show Gratifying Results.

The first fall meeting of the Wilmington chapter of the Red Cross society was held at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Cuthbert Martin, the president, presided while Mrs. S. Mehlsohn, the secretary, kept a record of the proceedings.

One of the most important matters before the society was the discussion of plans for the annual Christmas seal campaign. Nearly 100,000 seals were disposed of last year, and the mark set for the coming Thanksgiving is 120,000.

Owing to a motion and suggestion from the National headquarters, the election of officers was postponed until the first week in January. This was done in order to avoid confusion and misunderstanding. A great many people are of the opinion that January is the proper time to begin all new activities. This caused considerable confusion and required much explaining by the officers.

The report of the summer activities showed a marked activity on the part of the chapter. Very gratifying results are being obtained from the Red Cross sanitarium. Since July nine white and seven colored women and six colored men have been treated at the sanitarium.

In behalf of the general preparedness programme, four boxes of surgical instruments and hospital supplies were forwarded to the National headquarters at Washington to be used in the military and naval base hospital to be established there. The local chapter was thanked by the National chapter for this contribution.

The report of Anna Bentley, in charge of the tuberculosis patients and Metropolitan Life Insurance work, follows:

"Work since May, 1916: Metropolitan Life patients, 2; deaths, 2; discharged improved, 12; sent to hospital, 1; patients now under care, 2; visits, 132; Red Cross tubercular patients, 1; deaths, 3; sent to sanitarium, 2; patients under care, 2; homes fumigated, 2."

The local chapter is planning a campaign for members this winter and will bring several strong speakers to Wilmington for this purpose. Over 65 members were enrolled during the summer.

The Red Cross workers are very proud of their sanitarium and justly so. While not a branch of the Red Cross work it is nevertheless under the direction of the chapter. Dr. J. C. Wessell is in charge, while Dr. R. B. Sloum is treasurer and manager.

The annual meeting will be held on Wednesday, October 25.

CHRISTIANS TO MEET

In Annual State Convention at Kinston Next Month.

(Special Star Correspondence.) Kinston, N. C., Oct. 10.—Ministers and laymen of national reputation will address the State convention of the Christian church here next month. The first session will be held on the evening of Monday, the 13th. The closing session will be on Thursday evening, the 16th.

One session will be given over to the Atlantic Christian college, the denomination's school at Wilson, another to Christian Women's Board of Missions work, and a general session on church topics. Several hundred delegates are expected to attend the convention. The local church is one of the strongest in the State, with a congregation comprised by well-to-do and influential residents. Rev. B. P. Smith is the pastor, having as his assistant Miss Edna Fellows, of Minnesota. The North Carolina convention is one of the most important in the East.

GRAND LECTURER HERE

Rev. J. W. Rowell, of Waxhaw, Will Spend Two Weeks in Wilmington.

Rev. J. W. Rowell, of Waxhaw, one of the grand lecturers of the North Carolina Grand Lodge of Masons, arrived in the city Monday and will spend two weeks here giving lectures to the three local Masonic lodges. He will be at the Masonic Temple each afternoon after 3:30 o'clock and also in the evening and he will be glad to give instruction to any Mason in the work of the fraternity.

President and Secretary of the Chinese-American Exchange Company Will be Principal Speakers.

Dr. Clarence J. Owens, of Washington, president of the Chinese-American Exchange Company, and Mr. David S. Rose, general counsel for the same company, will be the principal speakers at an informal smoker to be given at the Chamber of Commerce at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Chinese-American Exchange Company is a new organization, is still one of great importance. It is a shipping corporation that proposes to link many ports of the South, including Wilmington, with the ports of China. The general offices of the corporation are in the Southern Building at Washington.

The announcement that Wilmington was to be one of the ports included in the new line has aroused considerable interest locally and it is expected that a number will attend the smoker tonight to hear two of the company's officials talk on the subject. Dr. Owens, in addition to his affiliation with the new Chinese-American steamship line, is president of the Southern Commercial Congress. The company is also being backed by other men prominent in political and business circles in Washington.

The local Chamber of Commerce has long felt an interest in the idea of a direct steamship line between this city and points in the Orient and have had considerable correspondence with Dr. Owens in regard to this matter for some time past. His purpose in visiting Wilmington at this time is to explain fully and clearly to the business men of the city what the Chinese-American Exchange Company is, and what its purposes are.

Should the company decide to carry out its project and include Wilmington on its lists, it will fill a long felt want in the industrial conditions of the city. It is an enterprise that will open up a new outlet for Wilmington, and will also serve to make her more important than ever before, as a port of entry.

NO WORD FROM BRUNSWICK

Proposed Conference Regarding Improved Ferry Across Cape Fear Was Not Held Yesterday.

No conference was held in Wilmington yesterday by the members of the Boards of Commissioners of New Hanover and Brunswick counties regarding the operation of an improved ferry over the Cape Fear river in this city.

An invitation was extended by the New Hanover Board at its September meeting asking the Brunswick commissioners for a conference yesterday, but it was stated yesterday afternoon that nothing had been heard from the latter.

The position taken by the Brunswick board on former occasions has been that the latter county has already complied with the conditions agreed upon for bettering the transportation facilities across the Cape Fear by authorizing a bond issue of $40,000 with which to build a bridge across the Brunswick river, leaving it up to New Hanover to build a bridge across the Cape Fear.

Whether this is still the position of the Brunswick board was not known here yesterday. Since a majority of the members of the New Hanover board regard the building of a bridge across the Cape Fear as an impracticable proposition, especially in view of the recent refusal of the board of government engineers to give their consent for the erection of a bridge in accordance with the specifications submitted, it was decided at the September meeting to invite the Brunswick commissioners to a joint conference to discuss the feasibility of operating an improved ferry.

Until some word is received from Brunswick, which will probably be within a few days, it is not probable that further action will be taken by the New Hanover commissioners at present.

GOLDSBORO CROWDED WITH FAIR VISITORS

Great Industrial Pageant Parades
Through the Streets.

President Nathan O'Berry Welcomes
Thousands of Visitors—Tobacco Sells High—"Vote for Wilson" in Evidence.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Goldsboro, N. C., Oct. 10.—With the city decorated in gala attire and the streets crowded with thousands of visitors, the Wayne County fair opened today under most favorable auspices, while there is a happy smile beaming upon the countenances of the promoters of the fair, who are realizing that their efforts have not been in vain in making the exposition a decided success.

A grand industrial pageant, under the direction of Mr. Herndon Tuttle, formed at 10 a. m. in front of the Arlington hotel and for more than an hour paraded through the principal streets of the city, the floats being both beautiful and attractive, attesting the loyal co-operation of Goldsboro as a whole.

When the parade arrived at the fair grounds a circle was formed and an address was delivered by the president of the association, Capt. Nathan O'Berry, welcoming the visitors to the city and explaining the purposes of the fair association, in which he most eloquently and touchingly expressed his utmost confidence in the people of Wayne county as a whole, in making the occasion a big success, immediately following which the pageant retired in order and the attractions of the fair in all its charm and enjoyment was then on in full swing.

For the convenience of the farmers, the local tobacco market was kept open today and some of the finest specimens of the season were brought in while the prices soared to the high price mark and the farmers seemed very much pleased in the disposal of their products.

That Democracy is in full swing in this city was very much in evidence this morning by the several floats in the parade advocating "votes for Wilson" and emphatically designating the "cause" to all who desired to enjoy continued prosperity and peace.

At an early hour this morning it seemed as though the fair would be inaugurated with rainy weather, but by 10 o'clock the "clouds had rolled away" and with the exception of a chilling wind the day has been fair and passed off very orderly in so far as casualties are concerned, with comparatively no disturbance in evidence with the exception of a few "drunks" who were promptly taken in charge by the police and will be given a reckoning before Mayor Higgins Wednesday morning.

SUCCESSFUL ANNUAL MEETING Held by Middle District Baptist Association, Colored.

Burgaw, N. C., Oct. 10.—Rev. I. M. Powers, corresponding secretary, makes the following report of the annual session of the Middle District Baptist Association (Colored):

The session just closed of the Middle District Association, held with the Lakes Chapel Baptist church, Funder county, October 5-8, was a most pleasant and successful one. Missions, education, temperance, honesty, truthfulness, industry and moral development were discussed favorably and impressively.

Three new churches were added to the 54 already on roll, from which about $900 was raised for the different objects of the body. Education as an asset was discussed by Prof. C. F. Pope and missions as a liability by Rev. I. M. Powers and Dr. W. H. Moore.

Ministerial education was centered upon as a means to better equip our pulpits to raise our people to the necessary standard of good citizenship as well as Christianity. The faculty of the Burgaw High School was presented in person to the association and permitted to speak for the school, its needs, what it is doing and what it is designed to do, for the youth of the race, in the education of the heart, the hand and the head.

The Bethel Baptist church, near Rose Hill, Duplin county, was chosen for the next meeting of the body. Rev. H. Peterson was re-elected president; Dr. W. H. Moore, recording secretary; and Rev. I. M. Powers corresponding secretary.

MRS. BARNIE FLOWERS DEAD
Highly Esteemed Woman of Wilson County.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Wilson, N. C., Oct. 10.—Sunday afternoon about 7 o'clock at her home on Spruce street, Mrs. Barnie Flowers passed away at the age of forty-six years, following an operation for appendicitis one week ago the past Saturday. It has been thought that the operation would succeed, and her death came as a distinct surprise. Besides a husband and one sister, Miss Mary Sorrell, the deceased is survived by four children: Messrs. Albert, Lloyd and Robert Flowers, and Mrs. Ben Williams, all being residents here except the last named son, who is in the United States navy. Mrs. Flowers was highly esteemed by all who knew her, and much regret is felt at her passing. The funeral was held at the residence Monday afternoon, Rev. Richard Bagby officiating, and interment being made in Maplewood cemetery.

NEW UNION DEPOT AT WARSAW
Foundation Has Been Laid and Work Is Proceeding.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Warsaw, Oct. 10.—The foundation of the new union depot has been laid. It is of concrete, and from what can be learned of the plans, the new building, while not as handsome as Warsaw wished for, will be a great improvement over the old one, both as to appearance and convenience. There will be a fair sized waiting room for white people, and another for colored, with good office quarters for the working force, as well as a commodious baggage room. There is also to be a covered concrete pavement around the building. It is understood that lights for the building will be furnished by Mr. A. R. Turnbull, owner of the Atlantic and Carolina railroad, from his plant at Bowden.

66 ADDED TO THE CHURCH

Remarkable Revival in Clinton Baptist Church Conducted by Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Dew.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clinton, N. C., Oct. 10.—"In many ways one of the most remarkable and successful revivals held in Clinton," is the unanimous verdict of the people who have listened for two weeks to the preaching of Rev. J. H. Dew, who has been conducting a series of services in the local Baptist church. For visible and tangible results the meeting was a complete and unusual success. There were 66 additions to the Baptist church as a result of the two weeks' activity of this Godly man, and a number of people signified their intention of joining the other churches in town. The large following which Mr. Dew attracted to himself from the very first was significant, and throughout the services of the two weeks the following grew, until on the last day the large Baptist church would not begin to hold the people who came to hear.

This preacher's power lay in the multiplied evidences of his own deep Christian faith and experience. Men and women believe in him, believe in the religion which he preaches and practices. His knowledge of the Bible is unusually deep and broad. His sermons were strengthened and electrified by the scriptural light which he continually brought to bear on them.

Mr. Dew is ably assisted in all of his meetings by his wife, who is a woman of charming personality and a rare gift for music. By her direction the singing at all of the services here was very good and constituted no mean advantage to the service.

The candidates for baptism, who offered themselves during Mr. Dew's ministry, were immersed today by Rev. Fred Collins, pastor of the local church, at two services, both of which were beautiful and impressive.

From Clinton Rev. Mr. Dew went to Selma, where he will hold a series of meetings this week.

Chicago, October 10.—The annual report of the Pullman Company was made public here today. Total earnings were $43,761,465. Expenses, including $9,599,760 paid out in dividends were $40,940,850, leaving $2,780,607 applicable to the surplus account. The statement of assets and liabilities shows a net surplus of $9,599,075.

This Simple Laxative A Household Necessity

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Should Have a Place in Every Home.

Constipation, or inaction of the bowels, a condition that nearly everyone experiences with more or less frequency, is the direct cause of much disease. When the bowels become clogged with refuse from the stomach, foul gases and poisons are generated, and unless the congestion is quickly relieved the system becomes weakened and most susceptible to attack.

Various remedies to relieve constipation are prescribed but many of these contain cathartic or purgative agents that are harsh and violent in their action and shock the system. The most effective remedy is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

The Hon. John D. Keister, of Brandywine, W. Va., who has represented his district in the State Legislature for six years, writes that he uses Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and finds it a splendid laxative, easy to take and mild, yet positive, in its action, and that it should be in every household for use when needed.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists in all parts of the United States and costs only fifty cents a bottle. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug, does not gripe, and is recommended as a family laxative, mild enough for the tiniest babe, yet sufficiently powerful ful to act easily on the strongest constitution. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes, be sure to get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 465 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK. DON'T STAY BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED

"Dodson's Liver Tonic" Will Clean Your Sluggish Liver Better Than Calomel and Can Not Salfate.

Calomel makes you sick; you lose a day's work. Calomel is quicksilver and it salfates; calomel injures your liver. If you are bilious; feel lazy, sluggish and all knocked out, if your bowels are constipated and your head aches or stomach is sour, just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tonic instead of using sickening, salivating calomel. Dodson's Liver Tonic is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your head-ache and distress gone, your stomach will be sweet and bowels regular. You will feel like working. You'll be cheerful; full of energy, vigor and ambition.

Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic under my personal guarantee that it will clean your sluggish liver better than nasty calomel; it won't make you sick and you can eat anything you want without being salivated. Your druggist guarantees that each spoonful will start your liver, clean your bowels and straighten you up by morning or you get your money back. Children gladly take Dodson's Liver Tonic because it is pleasant tasting and doesn't gripe or cramp or make them sick. I am selling millions of bottles of Dodson's Liver Tonic to people who have found that this pleasant, vegetable, liver medicine takes the place of dangerous calomel. Buy one bottle on my sound, reliable guarantee. Ask your druggist about me.

3,000 HEAR GODWIN AND McCASKILL AT RED SPRINGS

Republican Candidate Given Close Attention but No Enthusiasm.

(Special Star Telegram.)
Red Springs, N. C., Oct. 10.—Fully 3,000 people heard the joint debate between Congressman Godwin and A. L. McCaskill this afternoon. McCaskill led off in a three-quarter hour speech in criticism of his opponent's record in Congress and abuse of the Democratic party in Nation and State. He was given close attention, but no enthusiasm.

Mr. Godwin, after a few side remarks not at all complimentary to his opponent, filled his hour in sound argument, referring to the principles of Democracy and enlightening his hearers on the constructive features of the Wilson administration. His speech was a splendid effort in behalf of Democracy and was well received.

Mr. McCaskill's 15 minutes rejoinder here to speak at Maxton tonight. They speak at Rowland tomorrow afternoon and at Fairmont tomorrow night.

GRACIOUS REVIVAL MEETING AT BLADENBORO CONCLUDED

Rev. William Black Conducts Very Successful Series of Services.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Bladenboro, N. C., Oct. 10.—The series of meetings that has been in progress the past week at the Presbyterian church closed Sunday night with a house that overflowed. Many were not able to get in. Rev. William Black, of Charlotte, synodical evangelist for the Synod of North Carolina, preached with earnestness and under the preaching and the beautiful songs many were touched. The town was revived. While it was held in the Presbyterian church, it was a Bladenboro meeting. The little body of only about 25 members could not have accomplished so much had it not been for whole-hearted and liberal co-operation on the part of the Baptists, who gave of their prayers, their presence and their money.

Mr. Andrew Burr, Mr. Black's singer, was assisted by Miss Ina Poole, of Raccord; Mr. George McKay, of Maxton, and the splendid young people of Bladenboro. Eleven were added to the Presbyterian church and 26 indicated their preference for the Baptist church. The pastor labored very earnestly and effectively in the meeting for four days before Mr. Black came and throughout the meeting, Rev. I. P. Hedges, pastor of the Baptist church, was in a meeting elsewhere and was not able to be present until Sunday, when he came and gave up his services at the Baptist church, morning and night, that his congregation might participate with the Presbyterians. He and his people manifested a beautiful Christian spirit.

The collection for the singers and the work which Mr. Black represents were liberal indeed.

WARSAW GINNIERS BUSY

Cotton and Sweet Potato Crops Short in Duplin This Year.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Warsaw, Oct. 10.—Two cotton gins are running full blast in town now, each week day, and a considerable amount of cotton is being brought to town. It sold on the local market today for a little more than 16 cents. According to the estimate of a prominent buyer, as well as planter, the crop is short in this section 50 per cent. The sweet potato crop is short 33 1-3 per cent, the heavy summer rains having damaged the crop considerably. This is the first time in years that Duplin county has failed to make an abundant crop of potatoes, the yield last year being unusually large, with prices only 10 and 50 cents per bushel.

THEATRICAL

Richard Harding Davis, the greatest writer of virile 20th century fiction now living, wrote "The Buried Treasure of Cobre," a great three-reel Selig Red Seal dramatic feature which tops today's big bill at the Grand Theatre. This in itself is enough guarantee that it will be something different, something entirely out of the general run and the beaten path of film dramas. One of the greatest writers of thrilling fiction ever known, Richard Harding Davis has contributed to the screen some of its very greatest successes.

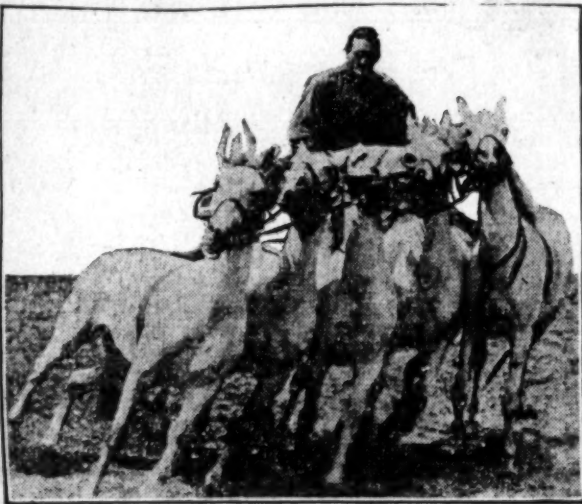

And added to the potentialities of this great name, is the cast which interprets this great story, headed by that daring and strong figure, Harry Mestayer in the leading role supported by a superb cast of stars which includes Frank Clark, Fred Hearne, Richard Morris, Virginia Kirtley and Will Machin.

It is a tale of romance and adventure and the plot calls for several unusual settings which a skillful director has shown marvelous taste in staging. The story is novel and spirited, and holds the interest to the finish and is in line with the South American tales that did so much to help Mr. Davis make his reputation as a writer.

There will be other big features, of course, bringing the bill up to the usual bargain proportions, for five cents.

Big Bill at Bijou.

Today's big bill of movies at the Bijou is headed by a magnificent three-reel Knickerbocker Star Feature, "The Big Brother," one of the most startlingly realistic stories of the year.

Cavalry Trick Riding in the Buffalo Bill-101 Ranch military "Preparedness" display, which comes to Wilmington on October 16th.

starring that virile dramatic star, Henry King, supported by a notable supporting cast.

"The Big Brother," a United States Consul on a distant island, proves himself "big" as he passes through tragic experiences in his defense of his young brother. In the distant country, among strange people, the brothers battle with unusual customs and with trying problems. As all things in the "Big Brother," all proves gain. The story is romantic to a great degree and the settings on a South Sea island are extremely picturesque. The theme of the story illustrates in graphic manner the dangers run by white men when they allow themselves to become entangled with some dusky maiden of the South Sea islands.

Another big feature today is a big Vitagraph comedy feature starring infatigable Hughie Mack, entitled, "She Who Laughs Last," with a scream in every line.

Gail Kane at Royal.

Gail Kane, one of the youngest of the great Broadway stars who scored international success in George M. Cohan's "Seven Keys to Baldpate," and later did likewise in his "The Miracle Man," comes to the Royal today in a magnificent Brady-made World feature, "The Velvet Paw," in which she is co-star with that dashing and virile young dramatic star, House Peters, in one of the strongest dramas of the year.

"The Velvet Paw" deals with politics and politicians in the first place. How the passage of an important bill was nearly frustrated by the velvet paw of a woman lobbyist. It most graphically told in this splendid picture. It is an interesting story of life in Washington as led by the members of Congress and the Senate. How a woman's influence, nearly sets the House upside down and the effect of lobbyists on legislation, is the theme interspersed with love and romance in a beautiful manner.

With House Peters and Gail Kane in the leading roles this should be one of the strongest offerings of the entire week at the Royal and should draw large audiences today and tonight.

New Bill at Victoria.

If you enjoyed the first show at the Victoria this week you will fairly rave over the brand new bill to be presented today by the Winter Garden Girls & Company. Today they present one of the greatest minstrel and musical comedy shows ever seen at the Victoria, a pleasing combination of musical comedy, vaudeville and minstrel that must of necessity appeal to everyone.

Miss Lola Vann as the Jester; Jack Grant and Ralph Smith as end men, the other members of this all-star aggregation in suitable roles, you will be furnished an hour of such entertainment as rarely falls to your lot. Jack Grant, the inimitable black-face who made such a tremendous hit the first of the week, will register even a greater sensation in his role in this production, ably aided by Ralph Smith in the comedy role. Jack Hurley as intercomer acquires himself with high honors. There is first a musical comedy sketch, followed by an olio in which is presented Fred and Eva Hurley in a singing and dancing specialty. Following this is the second scene which is followed by the minstrel afterpiece, featuring some new big song hits including "They Called It Dixieland," "Memories," "Yama Man," and others, a grand minstrel parade by the entire company, a great buck dance specialty by Ralph Smith and another one of those inimitable acrobatic dances by Jack Grant.

It is a great show today, better than Monday's, and should be witnessed by packed houses tonight.

Crowns Are Big Feature.

"There is an instinct in every meeting of this life," said Victor Hugo. And instinctively children, when they meet the clowns of the circus, love them. For that matter, we all love the circus clowns. And why? Simply because they are lovable. We love them not for any particular beauty which they may possess, but just because they are such "durn fools." For as a wise poet once wrote,

"A little nonsense, now and then, is relished by the wisest of men." Or, to again quote Hugo, "Laughter is the sun which drives winter from the human heart."

Yes, indeed, we all love the circus clown, and when John Robinson's Ten Big Shows appear in Wilmington on November 6th, afternoon and evening, none of the antics of the coterie of clowns will escape our notice.

Den Rice, the old-time King of clowning, began his professional career with a traveling show near Reading, Pa., in 1846, at a salary of four dollars per week. With John Robinson's Ten Big Shows are fifty-one clowns, none of whom receives less per day than Dan Rice originally got per week.

SINCLAIR AT JACKSONVILLE.

Delivers One of the Best Addresses Ever Heard in Onslow.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Jacksonville, N. C., Oct. 10.—Jacksonville and Onslow county citizens had the opportunity yesterday of hearing one of the best speeches ever delivered in the county. Hon. N. A. Sinclair, of Fayetteville, Democratic elector, addressed 200 voters here in the court house. In the beginning Mr. Sinclair launched an attack upon the Republicans, from which any argument made by them must crumble.

His reference to the dark days of 1898 proved the 42-centimeter that pierced the armor of the G. O. P. When reference of any sort was made to President Wilson, it was received with loud applause. The Democratic party's record and the record of the Republican party were laid before the people side by side and the voter was left to decide under which flag he would march. That those who were present cast their lot with Democracy was attested by the rounds of applause given Mr. Sinclair at the conclusion of his speech, which was great, and which many said was the best ever delivered here. The speaker was introduced by Hon. Frank Thompson.

APPORTIONMENTS MADE OF FEDERAL ROAD FUND

Wilmington-Fayetteville Highway
Gets $7,500.

Larger Portion of Amount Coming to North Carolina in 1917 Goes to Flood-Swept Counties
in the West.

(Special Star Telegram.)
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 10.—Apportionments have just been made by the State Highway Commission of Federal aid money in the first distribution to counties in the State.
While the larger portions of the Federal fund used in 1917 will be spent in the counties worst hurt by the floods of July, the Wilmington-Fayetteville Highway gets $7,500.
Person county gets $10,000.
Madison, $9,500.
Henderson, $10,000.
Burke, $5,000.
Rutherford, $5,000.
Catawba, $5,000.
McDowell, $10,000.
Wilkes, $25,000.
Avery, $5,000.
Johnston, $4,000.
Carteret, $1,000.
Mecklenburg and Gaston counties, $10,000.

Governor Issues Appeal.
Governor Craig issued an appeal to the people of North Carolina today for them to make contributions October 21 and 22, along with the people of the whole country, for the relief of the war, famine and disease stricken in Syria and Armenia.
He says that, "Quoting the language of President Wilson, I feel confident that the people of this State will be moved to aid these people stricken by war, famine and disease."

CHANDLER CASE AIDED BEFORE HEALTH BOARD

not able to do any cooking owing to the fact that cooking utensils had not been supplied by the Health Department.

"The floors were thoroughly scrubbed Monday morning and the room prepared by two Hospital employees and fresh linen was brought down direct from the laundry. I think the whole trouble was caused by a misunderstanding as to respective duties of the Health Department and the hospital in this particular case. We regret very much the discomfort caused the patient."

Following the hearing on the Chandler case, the September reports of various officials of the Health Department were submitted.
Director Geo. F. Catlett, of the city laboratory, in discussing the city water supply, reported that the color and turbidity results and bacterial conditions have not been as satisfactory during the past month as might be, though chlorination has rendered the water safe for drinking purposes. Bad color was reported as being due to wearing out of parts of the filtration equipment, causing imperfect functioning of the apparatus. Orders, it is stated, have been placed for new equipment. Recommendation is made in the report that on account of the numerous duties falling upon the director that the water department furnish an unskilled helper at the plant.

Dr. Stovall, county physician, reported that new quarantine cases reported during the month include: Scarlet fever, 2; diphtheria, 3; and poliomyelitis, 1; that the number of visits made to indigents in city and county were 30 and 75, respectively.

Chief E. Pinar, of the Sanitary Police, reported that his office made 14,942 inspections during the month, condemned and ordered closed 1,480; the number of 1,340, while Superintendent Holton reported 1,400 closures cleaned.

Miss Christie Pinner, public health nurse, reported: Visits to homes, 191; infants under care, 61; infants fed from milk station, 66; feedings sent out from milk station, 5,484; and clinics attended, 9.

Fluencing Inspector Otto Genaust reported: Fixtures installed, 146; houses connected to sewer, 25; latrines laid, 25; permits issued, 63; inspections made, 73; condemnations, 2.

The report of births and deaths for the month of September was: White, 28; deaths white, 17; black, 24; non-resident deaths, white 3; black 2. The temporary death rate is given as 13.1, and birth rate as 24 per hundred thousand.

A GAMBLER'S FATE.

Took a Long Chance on the Weather—
And Paid For It.

Never can the wages of a gambler's sin be more fully impressed on the mind of a certain Wilmington young man than they were yesterday. No he was not caught red handed in a violation of the law. He did not steal any money from his employer to continue his gaming, nor yet did he have to sit up and listen to a moral lecture while his best girl looked on.

It was worse, far worse, and in a manner that made him curse bitterly the demon of temptation that lured him on to make the wager of which he repented so fully.

This hot blooded (he is not hot blooded any more) young sport is a great admirer and follower of the National game (baseball) this time, not poker, so don't get misled) and a still more ardent admirer of the Brooklyn team.

He took all his loose change and put it behind Wilbert Robinson's pet in the opening game Saturday, and went broke.

When Monday found him insolvent yet anxious to show that he still had the faith in his favorites, he made the rash bet that preceded his undoing. Twisted by one of his companions, he boldly offered to bet that if the Dodgers did not lick the boots of the Red Sox in the second game, that he would appear at the baseball matinee yesterday clad in a palm beach suit.

But how inconsistent is the weather man. The sun set Monday at the same time on a balmy spring-like day, and the defeat of the Dodgers after one of the most thrilling battles in baseball history.

Our young sport was not so much downcast over his misfortune, for palm beach suit would not look so out of place with the spring-like weather. But when he awoke yesterday morning and heard the northeast wind whistling about the eaves with that dirge-like tone that makes the jolliest optimist feel sad in spite of himself, he felt the first sting of realization as to what his wager meant.

Hurried telephonic communication with his debtor availed him nothing, and so it happened that when the matinee began before a crowd of shivering spectators, this youngster walked along the rear of the crowd with a long black overcoat completely concealing his person, but from beneath it shone the unmistakable color of the palm beach trousers.

FROST WARNINGS ISSUED FOR THIS SECTION LAST NIGHT

Yesterday Was One of the Most Disagreeable Days of the Year.

The weather man looked over his collection of early winter styles in disagreeable weather yesterday and handed out one of the most ultra-fashionable types that he could find in his collection.

He sent a great many of the more cold blooded citizens of Wilmington diving for their overcoats in a hurry, when they first poked their heads from their bed rooms in the early morning. Lowering clouds hung over the city in a manner that reminded one of the words of Poe's tale of "The Fall of the House of Usher," when "the clouds hung oppressively low in the horizon."

However, it is probable that we were in a worse predicament yesterday than Mr. Poe was when he made that ride in his fancy, for he did not record in his story that when the shades of night finally drew on, that the weather department issued a frost warning, and he had lost the ticket that would return his overcoat to his possession, yet that is what the meteorological experts whom Uncle Sam is keeping in Washington, handed out last night.

With the exception of the extreme southern points in the south Atlantic and Gulf states, all sections east of the Mississippi have been warned that General Frost has mobilized his forces, and will be liable to strike anywhere in that territory within the next 12 hours.

Therefore, those mortals who are so tall that an ordinary blanket is short to accommodate them when they expand longitudinally, had better be careful these nights or old Jack will take a nibble at a protruding toe.

Warmer weather is promised after today.

CELLULOSE AS A SUBSTITUTE FOR LINT IN DRESSING WOUNDS

Is Advantageous Because It Assures a More Prompt Healing

(Correspondence of Associated Press.)
London, Sept. 20.—Opinion among surgeons and nurses is practically unanimous favor of the advantages of a new method of dressing large and painful wounds, whereby a thin layer of perforated celluloid is substituted for lint as the first covering for the raw wound. The plan was tried successfully first by Sir Almon Wright, at St. Mary's Hospital, Paddington, and now promises to become generally adopted.

The celluloid, first rendered soft and pliable by being soaked in a 20 per cent solution of carbolic acid, and then washed in a weak salt solution, is laid on the raw wound, the perforations being so numerous that it seems merely holes.

A 5 per cent solution of common salt in sterile water is then placed over the celluloid, after which firm bandages are applied. Owing to the celluloid much firmer pressure can be used than with ordinary dressings.

One surgeon, explaining the advantages of the celluloid dressing, further said: "In many cases the healing of a large wound is actually retarded by the use of a bulky dressing, resulting from the pain caused in the dressing of it. Again, gauze bandages, when laid directly on the raw wound, must inevitably, in the process of removal, tear away from them certain of the tiny new cells which are formed by nature in affecting the cure. Every cell thus destroyed has to be remade, and so healing is delayed."

"DON'T WORRY THE PATIENT"

Some Reasons Why Visiting the Sick is an Art.

(Dallas News.)
Visiting the sick is undoubtedly an art. To know just when to go, how long to stay and just what to say while there requires tact and judgment as well as common sense.

The first thing to consider in visiting a sick friend is the selection of a reasonable hour. There is of necessity within a sick room, and the visit should be timed with reference to that, and not merely at the caller's convenience.

During the middle of the day most invalids are at their best and better able to enjoy seeing their friends than at other times. As a rule neither early morning nor late evening is favorable for visitors, as few invalids care to receive their friends until after their rooms have been freshly aired and set in order for the day, the dust bath and toilet completed and the doctor's visit over.

All this takes time, and not only does it absorb the entire attention of both nurse and patient, but frequently the latter is somewhat tired, and a short rest is advisable.

Of course, under special circumstances an evening call is allowable, but it is never wise to choose this time unless one has permission from the nurse or doctor. The patient is generally so tired by nightfall that in order to secure a good night's rest he or she should be kept from any undue excitement after the evening meal.
As to the length of one's stay some people unfortunately never seem to know when to go, but stay on and on interminably. As a rule from 15 to 20 minutes is a sufficiently long period for the visitor to last; it is far better to go while the welcome lasts than to outstay that limit. If the visitor is wise, she will not allow herself to be influenced by entreaties to remain longer or to prolong her call by the invalid's protestations that she is "not at all tired."

But more important than all else is in visiting the sick is the atmosphere one diffuses, conscious or otherwise. The conversation and manner, the expression and even the tone of the voice are all absorbed and have their effect upon the invalid.

THE POUND AND THE DOLLAR

Will a Direct Interchange of Products Affect the Situation?

(From the San Francisco Chronicle.)

It is rather remarkable that what might be called the best financial opinion in this country leans to the view that changes produced by the war will have no disturbing effect on the mechanism of exchange, and that when peace is concluded London's financial supremacy will be reasserted. This belief is based on the observed fact that commercial customs are changed with great difficulty, and that new machinery of exchange can only be built up very slowly if at all.

It is not impossible that hitherto untried experiments, having for their object the elimination of the middleman, may bring about some pronounced changes to which the students of finance have not given much attention. There was printed in Sunday's Chronicle a dispatch from New York in which the statement was made that Dr. Arnold Venthal, before sailing for Europe from that port, announced that an organization having a financial backing of more than $100,000,000 had been formed in France for promoting direct trade between that country and the United States.

As one of its announced objects is the elimination of the middleman, it is not rash to assume that a direct trade arrangement would provide for direct settlements. These settlements would be unaccountable obstacle in the way of the accomplishment of this latter object, and if it is put into successful operation between France and this country it is not improbable that Japan would speedily become an imitator of the practice.

The trade between the United States and Japan has grown to considerable proportions, with the balance in favor of the latter country. Under the circumstances, it seems like an absurdity that the monetary transactions of the two countries involving the settling of balances should be through a third country which has no other interest in them than that involved in the rake-off for making the settlement. Perhaps in the end considerations of profit and loss will break down the aversions for change, and a new and more sensible machinery for settling trade balances than that now in vogue.

HOLY WATER INSTEAD OF WINE.

Spanish U-Boat Christening Attended
by Religious Ceremonies.

(Boston Transcript.)
Before Senora de Riano, wife of the Spanish ambassador, christened the first warship ever built in the United States for the Spanish government and named after the name Isaac Peral on the submarine, there took place a formal religious ceremony, and holy water was sprinkled on the ship. A prayer was read as part of this ceremony. Never before had a warship built at Fore River shipyard been blessed and christened in this manner.

No spectator was more interested than were the members of the crew of the Peral, who had arrived several days ago and are preparing to take the ship to Spain under its own power. Several hundred of the yard workmen also stood nearby and cheered as the submarine slid into the water, amid the tooting of whistles.

MACHINE TO PEEL PEACHES

Industry in California Will Be Revolutionized, Growers Predict.

(Galveston News.)

There has been quietly and secretly installed at the California Peach Growers' Plant, No. 9, which is better known as the Fresno Home Packing company's plant, a peeled peach machine which promises to revolutionize the peach industry and make it profitable to market peeled peaches at the low price of 8 or 9 cents per pound.

With the advent of the peeled peach machine, which can put out a perfect peeled peach at less cost than can be done by hand, it is predicted that there will be a big demand for the peeled peaches, and this will form one of the important outlets for the peach industry.

Greenwood, of Waynesville, recently,
"is not so much how to raise fine pigs and cows, apples and pumpkins, but physical men and women. At the various fairs," said he, "you find premiums offered for the finest horse, mule, calf,
chicken, and for the best corn, wheat,
and potatoes; in fact, for everything that a man can raise except his children."

"We have too long neglected the annual called man," said Dr. Greenwood.
